LAIRD: U.S. FALLING BEHIND

Tax Use Plan Given Support

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Highway user organizations Friday joined in solid support for a proposed constitutional amendment which would prohibit the expenditure of highway use taxes for any purpose other than road and street work.

The proposal, contained in LB778, a legislative highway study bill presented to the Public Works Committee by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, was heard without opposition testimony and held for later action.

Also held for further consideration was LB947, a study committee recommendation which would reduce the "shrinkage allowance" permitted gasoline dealers from 3% to 1%.

Enactment of LB947, Warner estimated, would increase state gasoline tax revenue by about $1.1 million a year.

Marketers Oppose Bill

The Nebraska Petroleum Marketers, representing 900 importers, distributors and oil jobbers, strenuously opposed the bill.

Actual loss of gasoline due to shrinkage (basically evaporation and spillage) is at least 3%, George Watters of Lincoln told the committee.

Dealers are given a shrinkage allowance to compensate them for such losses since the gasoline tax is paid on the amount of gas distributed in the state, not on the volume actually sold.

There is evaporation at all stages of storage and delivery, Watters said, and the 3% allowance is actually "probably too low."

In answer to a question from Committee Chairman Rick Budd of Nebraska City, Watters said the marketers will "not actively oppose" pending legislation to increase the gas tax by one cent a gallon.

Warner Gives Results

Warner presented the committee with the results of a U.S. Bureau of Public Roads study indicating that normal shrinkage losses amount to less than 1%.

Watters countered with a 1930 Bureau of Mines study indicating that the actual evaporation loss in horizontal storage tanks during the summer months is close to 3%. Additional losses in delivery would move the figure over 3%, Watters said.

Nebraska's allowance is one of the highest in the nation, Warner said.

In addition, former Gov. Robert Crosby noted, the state provides dealers with a tax collection allowance.

Crosby testified in favor of the bill on behalf of the Better Nebraska Assn., and the Lincoln and Omaha Chambers of Commerce.

Highway Bill Backed

Supporters of LB778 suggested that a constitutional prohibition against the diversion of highway user revenue should be enacted to ensure highway users, who will be asked this session to pay higher taxes, that the revenue will go to road construction and maintenance.

While Nebraska does not now divert such funds to other purposes, the state did spend some $27 million in gas tax revenue for welfare purposes during the 1930's and 1940's, the commitee was told.

Supporting testimony was presented by the Nebraska Highway Users Conference, the State Grange, the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, the Better Nebraska Assn., the Lincoln and Omaha Chambers, Vision 17, the City of Grand Island, and a host of specific user organizations.

Two Die As Sewer Ditch Collapses

Nemaha (AP)—Two construction workers were killed Friday when a sewer ditch in which they were working caved in.

Nemaha County Sheriff George Kelly identified the victims as Lester Bridgemon, 55, of Auburn and Jim Hamilton, 27, of Tecumseh.

Kelley said the men had nearly finished laying a section of sewer line when the bank gave way, trapping them under tons of dirt in the 25-foot deep ditch.

The sheriff said the victims were employes of the Rogge Engineering Co. of Julian, Neb., which is installing Nemaha's first sewer system.

More than 50 men and equipment from the Stearns and Rogers firm, general contractors on the nuclear power station at Brownville, worked throughout the day before the bodies were recovered late Friday afternoon.

Authorities said the ditch had been shored up, but apparently the shoring failed to hold and an entire section of one bank sloughed off.

Funeral services for the victims are pending. Hamilton is survived by his widow and three children. Bridgemon was separated from his wife.

Lincoln Grocery Stores Reached Peak In 1930s

Grocery stores reached their peak in Lincoln during the 1930's when 217 outlets were operating, almost four times the present number.

Today, the Capital City has only twice as many retail grocery stores as in the 1870's.

David Stephens, instructor in geography at the University of Nebraska, will present this new information Saturday in a paper on changes in the distributional pattern of retail grocery outlets in Lincoln, 1880-1969, at the Nebraska Academy of Sciences program on geographic education. (For other stories on the science meetings, see Page 11.)

According to city and telephone directories, Lincoln had 27 grocery stores during the 1880's. It has 57 now, Stephens discovered.

The geography instructor, interested in the patterns of retailing activities, said he will follow up his research on grocery stores with studies on other kinds of retail outlets.

The number of grocery outlets in Lincoln soared to 217 in the 1930's with the development of neighborhood stores catering to a walking clientele.

However, with the increased use of automobiles, neighborhood stores began to disappear, Stephens found. Now retail grocery outlets are being built only where they are accessible by high volumes of vehicular traffic.

Grocery stores have almost vanished from the central business district and from the centers of suburban communities such as Havelock, University Place and College View, Stephens reported.

In the last 20 years, stores have sought locations in small shopping centers and at spots requiring low rent.

In his study, Stephens also found a huge increase in size of stores as well as kinds of products sold.

'Social Concerns' Said Gaining With Jaycees

By DAVE ZIMMERMAN
Star Staff Writer

The national Jaycee president said Friday that Jaycee groups across the nation have decided to become even more involved in their individual communities than in the past and that "social concerns" are gaining top priority in community betterment projects.

In Lincoln to attend the state Jaycee convention at the Lincoln Hotel, national president Wendell Smith of Plymouth, Mich., told the nearly 1,000 Nebraska Jaycees and Mrs. Jaycees that they are not the leaders of tomorrow but are becoming more and more the leaders of today.

"This gives us a greater responsibility to be concerned with disadvantaged citizens and health and education problems of our communities," he said.

During a pre-speech interview, Smith said that a current pet project of Jaycee chapters is to establish chapters in prisons throughout the U.S.

62 Chapters

To date, there are 62 prison chapters, including the Lincoln One-Eleven Jaycees, made up of men at the State Penal Complex. The Lincoln group is serving as co-host of the annual convention.

Smith said that a recent study by the U.S. attorney general indicated that convicts who belonged to Jaycees had only a 10% prison return rate, compared to the 75% rate among nonmembers.

Other new projects undertaken by Jaycee chapters, said Smith, are the establishing of rehabilitative halfway houses for juveniles who need help in readjusting their lives after having been in trouble with the law.

In Small Towns

A particular role for chapters in rural areas such as in Nebraska, Smith noted, is to work toward keeping people interested in remaining in small communities.

On the national scene, Smith, who has traveled about 400,000 miles during his term in office, said that he notes a common attitude that the "college problem" must soon be solved.

One possible answer, he said, could be to establish youth commissions to have some voice in the formulation of college policy.

Smith commented that he also has become alarmed over the growing "intervention" of government into business and community life and the recent tax increases.

Blank, Olsen Aim For Top Office At Jaycees Meet

Vying for top office of the Nebraska Jaycees at the organization's annual three-day convention are Don Blank of McCook and Dick Olsen of Bellevue.

Blank formerly served as state vice president and was president of his local group.

Olsen also served as state vice president and was an active member of the Bellevue chapter.

The new slate of officers will be chosen during final convention sessions Sunday.

Saturday the state group will tour the Nebraska Penal Complex and hold speak-up, spark plug and spoke competition, followed by a directors meeting and leadership seminar.

National Jaycee vice president Kenneth Bowman of Louisiana will speak Saturday afternoon and the presidents banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m.

Poison Gases Leaking From Derailed Cars

Richmond, Ind. (AP) — All 375 residents at nearby East Germantown were evacuated Friday after fire, explosions and potentially deadly chemicals spewed from a 61-car train derailment.

Officials were concerned about an overturned tank car that dropped butyl acetate in the wreckage of 20 burning freight cars and another sealed tanker that contained deadly vinyl chloride.

Witnesses said explosions came from tank cars of butane gas. The train's cargo included automobile tires, wine, lumber and lubricating oil.

There were no reports of injury.

Butyl acetate is a liquid substance that turns to gas on escaping into the atmosphere and explodes at 110 degrees Fahrenheit. It induces vomiting, causes a skin irritation and can, if breathed in concentrated amounts, cause the lungs to collapse.

Vinyl chloride forms a lethal gas upon leaking.

He Sees Russia Ahead By 1970s

. . . IN ALL WEAPONS

Panama City, Fla. (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said Friday night the Soviet Union could seize superiority over the United States in all military fields by the mid-1970's.

The defense chief said he has gauged the Soviets' past and present levels of technological accomplishment in his roughly three months in office and:

"Based on this formula and upon the best information available to me as secretary of defense, I must conclude that the Soviet Union has the capability of achieving by the mid-1970s a superiority over the presently authorized and programmed forces of the United States in all areas — offensive strategic forces, defensive strategic forces and conventional forces."

Supports ABM

Laird's warning came in a speech supporting the Nixon administration's proposal to build the Safeguard antiballistic missile defense mainly as a means of defending U.S. missile bases against Soviet attack.

Laird said that in the past two years the Soviet Union has more than tripled its force of intercontinental ballistic missiles from 250 to 900, and this year will have more than the United States' 1,054 land-based weapons.

"Based on the Soviet Union's level of activity in recent years . . . they have the capability of achieving by the 1974-1975 time frame a force of 2,500 ICBMs in hard silos . . ." he said.

In addition the Soviets could, during the same period, increase their fleet of Polaris-type submarines to more than the United States' 41 Polaris subs, Laird added.

From 200 to 2,000

In the way of defensive weapons, U.S. intelligence predicts that the Soviet Union "can deploy anywhere from 200 to 2,000 ABM missiles by the mid-1970s," Laird said.

The Safeguard system which Laird endorses would begin by defending two Air Force Minuteman missile fields in the northern United States. It is understood this initial defense would involve deployment of about 400 defensive weapons.

Laird said the United States has a superior force of intercontinental bombers, a total of 549, but he said the Soviets are spending about twice as much yearly as the United States for bomber defenses.

Estimating the Soviet challenge to U.S. conventional forces involves more variables, Laird said.

But he predicted that by 1974 or 1975, based on authorized peacetime manning levels, the Soviets will probably have a superiority in ground forces of roughly three men to the United States' two.

The Soviets already have several times as many tanks as the United States, he said.

He projected that the Soviets could have several hundred more tactical aircraft than this country by mid-1970.

Sen. Dirksen Against Any ABM Delay

Washington (AP) — A Nixon administration Senate spokesman rejected Friday fresh compromise proposals for a year's delay in deployment of the Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) system.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he is opposed to delaying until next year a congressional showdown on President Nixon's decision to start construction of two Safeguard sites. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has made such a suggestion.

Demos Favor Party Reform

Washington — Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Eugene J. McCarthy proposed Friday that the Democratic Party hold a mid-term national convention to discuss issues and adopt a party platform.

Muskie, his party's vice presidential nominee last year, told a task force of the "commission on party structure and delegate section" that "such a convention could be held in the summer preceding the mid-term congressional elections, using the same guidelines for delegate selections as those adopted for the nominating convention."

"At the present time," the Maine Democrat continued, "for all intents and purposes, we have a national party only during the national nominating convention and the presidential campaign. Issues and platforms are swallowed up in the rhetoric of the nominating convention."

McCarthy Goes Further

McCarthy, an unsuccessful candidate for the presidential nomination, went even further, suggesting that the party might well hold annual conventions to determine party policies.

This would have the triple advantage, McCarthy said, of stimulating state parties to provide forums for discussing the issues to be taken to the annual convention, encouraging rank-and-file participation through the annual selection of delegates, and developing new party leaders.

The commission was established by resolution of the convention last August and directed to recommend reforms that would implement the convention's mandate for the 1972 nominating convention. This mandate declared that all Democratic voters should have "full" opportunity to participate in the delegate selection process within the calendar year of the convention.

McGovern Chairman

Sen. Fred Harris, national Democratic chairman chose Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota as commission chairman. The hearing Friday was the first of 16 to be held across the country in the next two months to get views on democratizing the delegate selection process.

Many of the 19 witnesses Friday denounced the undemocratic delegate selection procedures of the states and warned of the alienation of the young, the blacks and the poor if "the party of the people" did not reform itself.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Masschusetts, generally regarded as a leading candidate for the 1972 presidential nomination, unlike some of the witnesses, attempted to deal with some of the practical questions the commission must deal with.

For example, he asked whether there should be, as in the past, "automatic representation of such groups as unions, political clubs, racial minorities and youth on delegations, and if so, how can this properly be done in the context of popularly elected delegations?"

Western Nebraska Gets Snow

Highways in and around Alliance and Chadron were becoming icy and snowpacked late Friday as an early spring storm hit the area bringing rain and snow.

Winds were strong in the area — up to 50 miles an hour —according to the State Patrol at Scottsbluff.

Lincoln received .16 inches of rain Friday night. The forecast calls for a high temperature Saturday of 55 to 60 with a 20% chance of rain. Lows Saturday night will dip into the mid 30s.

Lincoln Boy's Condition Said Still Improving

Omaha (AP) — A one-year-old Lincoln boy, Kennet Schoonover, was reported making "very satisfactory progress" Friday after undergoing two-hour surgery for fitting with a pacemaker device to control the beat of his heart.

However, Kennet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schoonover, will remain on the critical list until Sunday evening. Physicians said they started feeding the boy with liquids Friday. The surgery was Thursday afternoon.

Kennet was believed to be one of the youngest persons ever fitted with the Pacemaker, powered by a mercury battery. Through electrodes, electric impulses go to the heart muscles, causing it to pump. Kennet's own nervous system could only make the heart pump at a very slow rate.

De Gaulle Issues Plea For French Confidence

World News

Paris (AP) — Charles de Gaulle — his presidency perhaps threatened in Sunday's national referendum — appealed Friday night for time to accomplish his grand design for France.

Insisting the nation's "destiny" is in the balance, De Gaulle urged approval of his bill to decentralize the country's administration and strip the senate of its legislative powers.

He left no doubt, in a brief, defensive radio-television address, that he would quit the presidency immediately if the project is rejected.

'Task Impossible'

"If I am disavowed by a majority among you . . . my present task as chief of state would obviously become impossible and right away I would stop the exercise of my functions," he said.

His address was a last-minute attempt to redress a trend measured by public polls against the bill, and against his continuation in a post he has held for more than a decade.

For these voters, impatient for change, but desirous of a calm transfer of power, De Gaulle for the first time set a deadline on his continuation in power.

If the referendum is approved, he said, he would continue the task undertaken more than 10 years ago "to give our country the democratic institutions adapted to our people."

Promises End

"Finally, at the end of the regular term, without rending and without upheaval, turning the last page in the chapter of our history which I opened 30 years ago, I will transmit my official charge to the one that you will have elected to assume it after me."

This was the first time De Gaulle has said without equivocation he would step down when his present, second seven-year term expires in 1972.

U.S. Attacks Red Guns In Cambodia

Saigon (AP) — American warplanes and artillery attacked North Vietnamese gun positions inside Cambodia Saturday after a fierce attack on a U.S. artillery base, military spokesmen said.

Spokesmen said the North Vietnamese hit the base of the 25th Infantry Division with nearly 500 rockets and mortar shells, followed up with a ground assault by about 400 infantrymen. Field reports said at least 157 enemy died in a screaming charge at the base.

American artillery returned the fire, officers said, with shells exploding about 1,000 yards inside Cambodia.

Yanks Dug In

The Americans, anticipating the attack, had burrowed deeply into their recently established fortress, called Frontier City. They suffered only four wounded.

When the ground attack came by 400 or more Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, the GIs scampered from their bunkers and turned their powerful 105mm howitzers directly into the lines of attackers. The assault succeeded in blowing up one section of barbed wire but the enemy never got inside.

Frontier City lies less than a mile from the Cambodian border within range of the enemy batteries that pumped 475 rocket and mortar rounds into the base.

Return Fire OK

American commanders on the frontier are authorized to fire back if fired on from enemy sanctuaries on the Cambodian side.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon reported a government militia force operating in the Mekong Delta had been badly cut up by the Viet Cong Friday — losing 26 killed including one American adviser, and 27 wounded.

The enemy force also captured 31 American M16 rifles recently given to the militia.

The action 45 miles southwest of Saigon was one of the worst defeats dealt the militia since the days of the Tet new year offensive more than a year ago.

Egypt Says Canal Not Truce Line

© New York Times Service

Cairo — The Egyptian government was reported Friday to have told the United Nations that the Suez Canal, which has separated Egyptian and Israeli troops for nearly two years, cannot be considered a cease-fire line.

The cease-fire line, Cairo was said to have insisted, should have been to the east in the Sinai Peninsula at positions still held by Egyptian troops on June 7, 1967, when the Security Council adopted a cease-fire resolution.

Instead, Egypt said, the Israelis disregarded the cease-fire and advanced until they reached eastern shore of the canal.

According to Al Ahram, the semi-official Cairo newspaper, the Egyptian government submitted its "clarifications" to Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, chief of the U.N. truce observers, for relay to U.N. headquarters.

Bull flew here Wednesday from Jerusalem to inform Cairo officially of Secretary General Thant's alarm over the artillery battles between Israeli and Egyptian forces and the Egyptian commando raids across the canal.

Thant said Tuesday "a virtual state of war" had erupted along the Suez Canal front, now described here as a "confrontation line" rather than a cease-fire line.

According to Al Ahram, Cairo also advised Bull that it had not accepted the cease-fire resolution for "an indefinite period."

The Egyptians were said to have replied in a similar vein to expressions of concern by United States, Britain and Italy over the recent escalation of fighting.

Everroad Praises Hruska For Naming Liaison Officer

In a letter tinged with political overtones, Lt. Gov. John Everroad Friday congratulated Sen. Roman Hruska for appointing a liaison officer between his office and state and local government.

Everroad, who has said he may challenge Hruska for his Senate seat in 1970, suggested that the senator's action represented a change of position in his response to a proposal made by Everroad two years ago.

Both officeholders are Republicans.

'Very Pleased'

"I am very pleased that you have appointed William E. Griffis II as your new liaison officer between Washington and the State of Nebraska," Everroad wrote Hruska.

"If you recall, I stated (in a 1967 Founders Day speech at Hastings) that Nebraska's communities needed a more direct communication link with Washington."

Everroad enclosed a copy of his 1967 remarks.

"In reply to my proposal of establishing a research and education division, you said that there were too many people wanting to bring 'federal loot' back to our state.

'Mind Changed'

"I am more than pleased that you have changed your mind in a partial way and agree that it is necessary to expedite federal assistance to the State of Nebraska."

Hruska Tuesday appointed Griffis to his staff, assigning him to work from the senator's Omaha office to coordinate with state and local governments to expedite federal assistance to Nebraska communities.

Griffis, 30, executive director of the Omaha Economic Development Agency, will assume his new duties May 1.

Mississippi River Dikes May Not Hold

By The Associated Press

The flood crest of the Mississippi rolled into the Quad Cities industrial complex of Illinois and Iowa Friday and the Weather Bureau warned that expected weekend wind and rain could breach dikes along the mighty river.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has estimated that the dikes thus far have averted $1 billion damage along the Mississippi now carrying 144.7 billion gallons a day, double its normal volume.

President Nixon Friday declared Iowa a major disaster area, allocating $750,000 initially for assistance, including repair or replacement of public facilities damaged by the flooding.

The Mississippi held at 6 feet over flood stage at Dubuque, where 15 industries and a two-block strip 13 blocks long were under water; 5 feet above flood at Clinton where school children were filling sandbags for repairs on dikes, 4½ feet at LeClaire, Iowa, and just over 4 feet through the Quad Cities — Davenport and Bettendorf, Iowa; Rock Island, Moline and East Moline, Ill.

Water spilling onto unprotected lowlands forced about 20 families to evacuate their homes at Albany, Port Byron, Rapid City and Pontoosuc, Ill.

Wheeler Says Task Force Is 'Inordinately Expensive'

© New York Times Service

Washington — The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said Friday the task force dispatched to the Sea of Japan to protect American reconnaissance flights was "inordinately expensive."

He indicated it could not be sustained as a long-range project.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler told a special House investigating committee that the 29-ship force off Korea was "what the Navy calls a surge operation," one that can only be maintained "for a limited period of time."

The general said he could not give any cost figure for the operation. Earlier, Pentagon officials had insisted that it would not cost much more than the separate use of the same ships and aircraft in other Pacific locations.

Some Other Way

Under questioning for the first time on both the capture by North Korea of the USS Pueblo last year and North Korea's shooting down of the Navy EC121 electronic surveillance plane April 15 with 31 men aboard, Wheeler indicated that the military was trying to work out some other way to carry out President Nixon's mandate to protect such flights.

"Right now," he said, "we are evaluating a number of courses of action that will permit us to give protection to future reconnaissance flights, not only in the Sea of Japan but in other high risk areas."

Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., the committee chairman, asked Wheeler if he believed the information obtained from the reconnaissance programs had been worth the losses of the Pueblo and the EC121.

"The program is absolutely essential," the general replied. "I believe it will be continued. Obviously, we will have to take further precautionary measures to make sure these illegal acts will not recur."

Pike 'Not Worth It'

Later, when questioned outside the hearing, Pike disagreed: "The value of what we have gotten out of these missions over the last several years has not been worth the cost."

Despite his concern over the cost of the task force off Korea, Wheeler maintained that the effort in Vietnam was "not suffering" as a result of the redirection of the military effort.

Wheeler testified that the White House Situation Room received word of the disappearance of the EC121 about an hour after it had been shot down, or about 12:50 a.m. April 15, but he said he did not know what time Nixon was informed.

"It could be this too is a matter that higher authority would wish to reveal," he observed.

EC121 Crash Kills 18 Men

Saigon (AP) — A U.S. Air Force spy plane, similar to one shot down by North Korea last week, crashed just after takeoff Friday afternoon at Korat Air Base in Thailand, killing all 18 crewmen aboard, military sources reported Saturday.

The EC121, the military version of the Super-Constellation, crashed three miles northeast of the base.

The Air Force's 553rd Reconnaissance Wing is based at Korat and includes a squadron of EC121s, about 20 planes, used in the Vietnam War.

Voc Tech Withdrawal Opposed In Lincoln Co.

. . . Final Outcome Hinges On Custer Co. Vote Count

North Platte — Lincoln County's massive support of the Mid-Plains Vocational Technical College in North Platte has overturned the area-wide vote in November which had apparently approved the proposed withdrawal of nine counties from the school's tax area.

Unofficial figures tallied Friday morning show Lincoln County voters opposed the withdrawal proposals for the other nine counties by an average vote of 8,853 to 1,111 or about 89% against each of the withdrawal questions.

Nebraska News

The area-wide average vote, including Lincoln County's new figures, Friday stands at an average of 11,800 against the various withdrawal proposals and about 10,600 in favor — or slightly over 52% opposed to the proposals.

The vote figure is different for each county since apparently some voters did not mark all nine questions on the ballot.

The final outcome of the proposals lies with Custer County which like Lincoln County had been delayed in counting the ballots because of court action contesting the original election.

5,400 Custer Votes

Custer County Clerk Irene James said Friday there were about 5,400 votes cast in that county. This compares with nearly 10,000 in Lincoln County.

Using average results from the area, estimates show Custer County opponents of the school would need over 60% of the votes in that county in order to overturn the totals as they now stand.

Mrs. James said the Custer County Vote Canvassing Board may be done with tallying on Tuesday.

Custer County is second only to Lincoln County in votes cast during the November election.

Before Friday's addition of the Lincoln County votes the total vote for the nine withdrawal proposals was about 9,500 to 3,000 in favor of withdrawal.

Led by McCook

Nine of the area's 10 counties, led by McCook based opponents of the school, petitioned for the withdrawal proposals to be placed on the November general election ballot. Only Lincoln County did not seek withdrawal.

Voters across the area cast separate votes on each of the county withdrawal questions. A majority approval from the entire district was needed to allow any county to withdraw under law enacted by the 1967 Legislature.

Fairbury High Bomb Threats Are Cleared Up With Arrest

Fairbury (AP) — Three successive bomb threats which emptied Fairbury High School while police and school authorities searched the building were cleared up Friday with the apprehension of a Fairbury area youth.

Police said the case was turned over to the Jefferson County attorney for further investigation. The youth was not identified.

A telephoned threat was received Wednesday, saying an explosive had been planted in the school. The building was emptied and a search was made without result. The caller telephoned a second time to ask if the explosive had been found.

Small Explosion

Similar calls were received Thursday during the noon hour when most students were out of the building and subsequently a small explosive similar to a firecracker or cherry bomb was set off in the auditorium.

Similar calls were received again Friday, but this time authorities were able to trace the call. This, added to other evidence, resulted in detention of the youth believed to be the culprit.

Damage Suit Filed Against Dog Owners

A $52,000 damage suit was filed in Lancaster District Court against Dick C. Gammel Jr. and M. Bobette Gammel in connection with a 1965 incident in which an eight-year-old child was bitten by the Gammels' dog.

Malissa Ann Fisher, through her father William H. Fisher, alleges that on April 30, 1965, she was invited by Mrs. Gammel to play with other children upon the Gammel premises and within a fenced area where the dog was allowed to remain.

The plaintiffs contend that the defendants knew the dog was "ferocious, and had a vicious and malicious disposition and was accustomed to attacking and biting children."

As a result of the alleged negligence of the defendants, the plaintiffs further allege that the child was bitten on the lips and about the mouth resulting in tearing and lacerations of the upper and lower lips.

According to the petition, the child suffered permanent injury, scars and damages necessitating surgery as a result of the dog bite.

Commission Hears Report On Park Land

The second portion of land to be acquired for development of Wilderness Park has been appraised at $466,709, according to a survey conducted by F. Pace Woods and submitted Friday to Lancaster County commissioners.

The 694.38 acres involved represents 14 parcels which make up the "second taking" of land for the proposed park to be located south of Van Dorn parallel to Salt Creek and Highway 77.

According to Commissioner William Grossman, the second required appraisal will be presented the board Monday, after which both appraisals will be sent to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for approval on each individual parcel.

Officials anticipate approval will take about a month after which time negotiations may begin with property owners for acquisition of the property.

The county has nearly completed acquisition of the first 536 acres at approximately $320,000 total cost.

Terry, Naylor Feud Over Parking Plan

By the Associated Press

Sen. Terry Carpenter said Friday that if President Kirk Naylor of the University of Nebraska at Omaha gets money out of the Legislature to proceed with Dr. Naylor's parking space plan on the campus it will be "over my dead body."

It was the Scottsbluff lawmaker's reaction to an apparent rebuff from Dr. Naylor to Carpenter's offer to help acquire land which would make it unnecessary to convert a present landscaped campus area into parking space.

Carpenter's views were set out in a letter to the NU Board of Regents, asking it to require Dr. Naylor to cooperate with Carpenter in his suggestions.

Carpenter said Dr. Naylor has taken an "inept and arbitrary and unacceptable position."

The senator had proposed that UNO delay any proposed parking space construction for 60 to 90 days to await determination whether the Legislature would be agreeable to supplying enough money to permit UNO to acquire enough land in the area of the campus to take care of expansion for the next 25 years.

Carpenter said he asked Dr. Naylor to provide a description of such land and an estimate of what the land might cost.

Carpenter's letter to the regents quoted Naylor as saying "I don't think Senator Carpenter's request has any bearing on what we do."

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

At a meeting in Belmont the other night, candidates for election to the City Council were asked a lot of questions about zoning and generally responded with the thought that zoning ought to be flexible. Well, nobody can argue with that—but just what is "flexible?"

City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogden would be the first to agree that there can be no hard and fast rules on zoning. There are criteria that apply in every zoning consideration but the circumstances of each zoning matter are different and each case must be decided on its own merits.

In fact, one candidate for the council is running on a zoning stand taken word for word right out of the text of the present zoning and planning concept we have on the books. Thus, the consultants we have used in developing the zoning we have readily admit that zoning is subject to constant change.

But flexibility can be abused. It can be the guise under which all principles of zoning are tossed out the window and everyone is permitted to do whatever he likes with his property — a sort of land development free-for-all.

Lincoln, without a doubt, is up tight over zoning. If the city has a hang-up, that is it. And it has been going on for a considerable length of time.

If you can remember back about four years ago, it wasn't much different. It wasn't much different two years ago. It was two years ago that Sam Schwartzkopf was elected mayor. It was four years ago that Lloyd Hinkley, Carroll Thompson and John Comstock were elected to their present terms on the City Council.

None of these people was elected as tough zoning advocates. At least some of them were elected with the thought that things would change if they got into office. But things haven't changed much.

In May, we will get three new council members and a lot of people will look for things to change. Especially in the area of zoning, a new attitude will be expected. We could get some change, all the way from small to significant.

We got some change two years ago when Bill Davidson was elected. We doubt that there has been a proposed zoning change heard by Davidson in two years that he has not approved of. With Davidson, zoning isn't flexible, it is out the window — a nice concept to have on the books but nothing to pay any attention to.

But what happens most of the time is that people get elected to office and then they begin to become knowledgeable in the affairs of the city. The way they saw things as a candidate for office is not the way they see things six months later as a public official.

They find that the zoning practices of the city are not so arbitrary as they had been led to believe, that there are good and valid reasons for the zoning decisions that are made, that a lot of people seek a zoning change purely for their own selfish interests and without regard for the welfare of the city as a whole.

They find, too, that what some think is a zoning problem in city government is not that at all. It might be a problem with utilities or the building code, matters the Planning Department has nothing at all to do with.

All of this is not to suggest that our present zoning is perfect. The proposal for an outside consultant's look at our zoning program, in fact, is growing in merit as public interest in the matter heightens.

But more than anything else, people need a better understanding of zoning than they have. Without full public understanding, no zoning program will ever have widespread support.

Unfortunately, this is easier said than done. To understand zoning is to be well informed and too many people, we fear, will not take the time to get that job done.

Women Gain Status While The Men Lose

NEW YORK — For the last quarter-century sociologists, psychiatrists and women have been worried about the status of women.

But today the worry worm is turning.

Today, it is the American male whose status in society is uncomfortably questionable.

He is losing much of his self-esteem in an automated era which he, himself, initiated.

His union has made it possible for him to work less — and feel guilty more.

His psyche is sagging badly in the face of female gains toward independence and fulfillment (the American female is the natural scapegoat), and more and more he is turning for consolation to the room American women fled: the kitchen. Surveys show that a good percentage of men now feel their true genius lies, not in the office or factory, but in the ability to turn out a hot chili or a swell mushroom omelet.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Contemporary society," believes Dr. Richard E. Farson, director of Western Behavioral Sciences Institute, is creating "far greater problems for the male than for the female.

On the other hand, the female sex has by and large given up suffering qualms about moving out of the home into the career world. Prejudice has broken down almost completely, and girls can now do pretty much what they like — work at home, or at an office, or both. Their "self-worth" is decidedly on the upswing.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another expert, Dr. Eli Ginzberg, professor of economics at Columbia University, holds the opinion that "many men today are not really job and career-oriented. Many get greater satisfactions from their families and off-job activities. Since there is no one best solution that society recognizes and approves, women have many more options than men. A man who does not have a successful career is a failure; not so in the case of woman.

"The long-range trend is clear," says the professor. "Men will work less. Women will work more. Women will gain more satisfaction from working out of their homes. Men will have more opportunities to enjoy their families."

More men at home. More women in offices. It seems inevitable.

It would be funny, if it were not so sad. American women don't want American men in the kitchen, when it comes down to it — I mean, unless their spaghetti is really great.

Increased Truckloads Questioned

A bill providing for higher truckload maximums on Nebraska highways other than the Interstate was heard without opposition by the Legislature's Public Works Committee earlier this week. The measure was endorsed by the Department of Roads, so its consequences probably couldn't be too damaging, but it poses a couple of questions and deserves further scrutiny before final action is taken.

The bill, LB911, would wipe out the five per cent tolerance allowance and increase the single axle load from 18,900 pounds with tolerance to 20,000 pounds. The tandem axle load would increase from 33,600 to 34,000 pounds and weights on large double bottom, six-axle trucks would climb from a maximum of 73,280 pounds (with tolerance) to 90,000 pounds.

Those who support the bill call the new weights "reasonable and moderate," and argue that the increased weights will help the state's economy, assisting agriculture, procedures, shippers and consumers.

Former Gov. Robert Crosby, speaking for the Better Nebraska Association, admitted that the increased maximums "will, to some degree, wear out highways faster," but he suggested that the state has a responsibility "to provide adequate highways for modern transportation needs." It is here that the trucking industry points out that highways are paid for by highway user taxes and the biggest share of those taxes are paid by the industry.

First, we question whether all highway users should be called upon to subsidize the trucking industry. Then we wonder whether the Legislature will act to build up the highways first, so that increased weights can be tolerated, or whether they will increase the weights first, so that the trucks can wear down the highways.

Costly Pay Limitation

Voters in the coming May 6 primary election will face a decision on five propositions. To date, discussion of the issues has been practically non-existent. One reason for this is that there is no known opposition to the proposed changes.

Opposition will exist, of course, on election day as it is a foregone conclusion that all four proposals will receive plenty of "no" votes. One of the important issues is an amendment to the city charter to eliminate the requirement that the mayor be the highest paid city employe.

Putting it another way, no employe of the city can be paid more than the mayor, whose salary is currently $17,325 per year. That means that no one else in the employment of the city can make more than $17,325.

But some city positions cannot be properly filled at that level. This is true in the city's Legal Department and its utility operations. It could well be true in the field of engineering and perhaps others.

The fact is that there are highly technical or professional areas of need where the salary demands cannot be avoided. There is no good reason that such salaries be limited by the amount paid the mayor. An alternative would be to raise the mayor's salary but this would give us no better or worse government than we have today or will have in the future.

It is not at all uncommon for highly technical positions to pay more than related positions of greater authority. This change would allow the city to pay what the competition demands and that's the way it ought to be for the sake of greatest service and efficiency.

Nixon Has Revised Attitude Toward Warren; Warren Successor Could Mean Court Change

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon has made several important right-about-faces since he became president, but none more important than his attitude toward Chief Justice Earl Warren.

He urged the Senate to ratify the non-proliferation pact with Soviet Russia after advocating delay during the campaign because of Russian bulldozing of Czechoslovakia. He played it cool regarding North Korea after chiding LBJ for letting a "fourth-rate military power" seize the USS Pueblo.

And after blistering the Supreme Court all during his campaign, he proposed a special toast to the Chief Justice at the Gridiron Club and this week gave a special dinner in Warren's honor. The responsibilities of the presidency change men, and Richard Nixon has changed even during his few months in the White House.

The big question is whether he will change the Supreme Court. He will have the opportunity soon to appoint the successor to Warren as chief justice. That one vacancy can radically change the decisions of the court and the policies of the country.

There will be other vacancies. But the first, filling Warren's shoes will be the most crucial. Will Nixon bow to the John Birch Society billboards dotting southern highways reading "Impeach Earl Warren" and appoint a reactionary? Will he pick a right-wing lawyer like Roger Robb, Otepka's attorney, whom Nixon has placed on the U.S. Court of Appeals? Or will he pick a moderate such as his cool-headed secretary of state, William P. Rogers?

☆ ☆ ☆

Take the Warren court's one-man-one-vote decision that the cities must have the same representation in state legislatures as rural areas. This was a decision which went to the root cause of decay in our big cities.

In the five years since the Supreme Court's decree, this inequality has begun to be rectified. It will take many more than five years, however, to wipe out the neglect and inequality of the past.

Some of the most criticized of the Warren court's decisions have pertained to criminal cases. If you study these, they do not protect criminals, they gave equality of justice to the poor as well as the rich.

The Mallory decision remedied the custom of rounding up dozens of suspects, usually young Negroes, and keeping them in jail all night in order to face police line-ups in the morning. A wealthy youth, when arrested, can call his parents and get an immediate lawyer or bond. The poor arrestee has to spend the night in jail. And though usually released after the line-up next morning, he had to go back and explain to his employer why he was not at work — even though no charge had been placed against him. Sometimes it cost him his job.

Following the Mallory decision, arrested suspects must have a charge brought against them within a reasonable time. Otherwise, they cannot be kept in jail all night.

In the Miranda case, also severely criticized, the Supreme Court gave to a Mexican youth in Arizona the same right to consult a lawyer already enjoyed by wealthy suspects. Any educated arrestee knows that he has the right of counsel. The uneducated arrestee does not. What the Miranda case did was to give the ignorant Mexican the right to be informed that he had a right to a lawyer, thereby setting a standard of equality for all men, rich or poor. This had been guaranteed by the Constitution, but hitherto never granted.

One of the most criticized opinions ever delivered by the Warren Court was the prayer decision. It was also one of the most misunderstood.

The court did not ban the Bible from public schools, but rather government-written prayer. The state, the court decreed, should not be in the business of decreeing what students should pray. Under the constitutional provision for the separation of church and state, this is for clergymen to decide in the churches, not the government in public schools.

Many people will argue whether Gen. Eisenhower's appointment of Earl Warren as chief justice was good or bad. But few will disagree that it was Ike's single most important domestic act.

It equalized the balance between rich and poor, between white and black, between ignorant and educated more than any other Supreme Court in American history. President Nixon may want to reverse that balance. As president, he has the power to do so. But, in the long-run, history will probably change the balance back again. And history will also judge Nixon accordingly.

The Boy Scouts

Lincoln, Neb.

Having been interested in Boy Scouts for many years, it is always an inspiration to me when I hear of the accomplishments of the young men who have had the advantage of the character-building program of the Boy Scouts.

Just recently an Eagle Scout won the top award in the Westinghouse 28th Annual Science Talent Search. Four of the top six winners were also Scouts. Almost 70 per cent of the boys in our service schools are Eagle Scouts, and 85 per cent of the men in the FBI were Eagle Scouts.

Years of experience have taught us that when we want young men with character, young men we can depend on, we first look into their background to see if they have had the advantage of a character-building organization. The hearts of thousands of volunteer scouters who make the program possible are given a big lift each time these many accomplishments come to light.

Every citizen should take note and say a little prayer of thanksgiving for the many volunteers who man those organizations whose principal goals are the building of character and giving our young people real standards to live by.

Time Change

Lincoln, Neb.

A week or so ago I was getting up at my regular 5:30 and could see enough outside to know that the paper boy, milkman and garbage man and others could go on their routes without roaming in the dark. But now we'll have that crazy Daylight Saving Time again, and they'll be right back in the dark again as they were all winter.

It has always been a job, and other parents will agree with me, to make the children come in before complete darkness, which is about 8:30 but will be 9:30 with the time change. A friend who works on a milk route said they have to go to bed early because their day begins early, but with children outside playing and cars racing by, it is impossible for them to sleep. If they want an extra hour on the Gulf, why don't they go to work an hour early, depending on their beginning hour, and not foul up everyone else's day?

I love the summer and being out in it, but man can't change the rising and setting of the sun. There is One most powerful who has control over this and all nature. Man has tried but failed.

Worse yet, they don't have Daylight Saving Time just in the summer months but even after school begins, which I feel should be the time it should change back. A farmer told me that it is no advantage to him because by the time the sun is up long enough to dry the fields, it is an hour later in the morning. This stands to reason, doesn't it?

NATURE LOVER

DEAN C. DIXON

They Had A Dream

Dean Dixon's musical education began at an early age. His mother carried him in her arms to the gallery of Carnegie Hall to expose him to good music while he was still a baby.

At the age of three, he began violin lessons. His mother sheltered him from the corrupting influence of pop music and jazz and saw to it that he practiced three hours daily.

Instead of becoming a violinist, however, Dixon became a conductor and won fame all over the world, except in his native land.

Although Dixon was the first Negro ever to conduct a major American orchestra, few Americans know of him. He left the United States for Europe in 1949, feeling his opportunities were limited because of his race. He never came back.

☆ ☆ ☆

In Europe, Dixon has conducted leading orchestras in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Hungary, Spain, England, Finland, France, Holland, Italy, Monaco, Norway, Poland, Switzerland and Yugoslavia.

He also has conducted in Israel, Mexico and Argentina.

Dixon became musical director of the symphony orchestra in Frankfurt, Germany, in 1960, and regular conductor of the Sydney Symphony in Australia.

Though an expatriate, Dixon is regarded in Europe as an assiduous ambassador of American music. He has introduced more than 50 contemporary American works to continental audiences.

At the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City, Dixon conducted the Mexican National Symphony Orchestra in concert and was described on the program as the "distinguished American conductor," though his reputation was made in Europe.

His reception there was characteristic. Receiving a tremendous ovation, Dixon turned to share it with the orchestra, but not one musician stood up. Instead, they applauded him as loudly as the audience, and remained seated.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dixon was born of British West Indian parents in New York City on Jan. 10, 1915. He attended New York City schools and then entered the Juilliard School of Music as a violin student in 1932.

He studied conducting under Albert Stoessel for three years at the Julliard Graduate School and received an M.A. degree from Teachers College of Columbia University in 1939.

Dixon made his debut as a conductor in 1938 directing the Music Lovers Chamber Orchestra at Town Hall in New York City. He was guest conductor for concerts by the New York, NBC and Boston symphony orchestras. In 1948, Dixon was awarded the Alice M. Ditson award for distinguished service to American music.

Offered no steady musical post, Dixon left for Europe the next year. He now lives in Frankfurt with his wife and daughter.

Retired Persons Association Offers Variety Of Services

By ROBERT PETERSON

Readers occasionally ask why someone doesn't start a great national organization for older people. My reply is that someone has. It's the non-profit American Association of Retired Persons, with over one million members and dues of just two dollars yearly.

It had its genesis two decades ago when the late Dr. Ethel P. Andrus, a retired high school principal in Los Angeles, created an association for retired teachers. It proved so popular that non-teachers asked to join. To satisfy everyone, Dr. Andrus created in 1958 the American Association of Retired Persons, open to all comers past 55. Its offices are at 1225 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C.

"We try to be as helpful as possible to older people," says Cyril F. Brickfield, executive director of this organization and formerly deputy administrator of the Veterans Administration.

"First, members get a bi-monthly magazine which carries no advertising and offers sound, inspiring articles geared to interests of older people. Members also get a bi-monthly news bulletin.

"Then we offer a health insurance plan which supplements the benefits older people may receive from Medicare.

"We also offer a mail-order drug service which permits members to obtain prescriptions, vitamins, and other health aids at substantial savings.

"Other services include a travel program which arranges group tours for older people; and drop-in lounges in St. Petersburg, Fla., Long Beach, Calif., and Washington, D.C., where members can visit and attend programs."

What does he consider the leading problem of older people? "I'd say it's a combination of loneliness and lack of purpose," he continued. "Of course many elders have limited incomes and health problems which detract from their satisfaction. But the great, overriding problem of a majority of elders seems to be inadequate human contact and insufficient activities which are stimulating and meaningful.

"For these reasons, we encourage members to create chapters in their local communities, with regularly scheduled meetings providing opportunities for education and fellowship. To date, we have 525 separate chapters throughout the country."

Does he foresee a day when people will actually want to grow old? "Oh yes," he concluded, "and that day has already arrived for many. With improved health and prosperity, many modern elders are enjoying what they genuinely find to be the best years of their lives."

If you would like a booklet, "Basic Health Rules for Older People," write to Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

The Campus In Turmoil:

Liberal Professor Harassed By Radical Left

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth installment of a 12-part series.

By WALTER W. MEEK
With M. STANTON EVANS

Prof. John H. Bunzel knows what it's like to disagree with the radical left. It's like war.

Before S.F. State was convulsed by terrorism, Bunzel was known primarily as the popular and respected chairman of the political science department. He had credentials as a Kennedy liberal and an early campaigner for ethnic studies for black students.

Then last October a time bomb was found ticking outside Bunzel's office door. Later, part of his department's offices were ransacked, the tires of his car slashed at his home, his family threatened by telephone. At the start of this semester he was kept from teaching for a week by radicals who raided his classroom.

Why did the radical left declare war on Bunzel?

To some extent, he says, it was part of a widespread attempt to silence liberal faculty who opposed radical tactics of disruption.

Questioned Proposals

But more important in Bunzel's case, he had questioned Dr. Nathan Hare's proposals for creating an autonomous black studies department at S.F. State.

"I was an early supporter of a sound ethnic program," Bunzel said, but "this place became so polarized that if you didn't support Hare's proposal you were tagged as an opponent and a racist . . .

"Black studies got completely caught up in revolutionary bombast."

Fortunately, the environment of S.F. State isn't duplicated at many U.S. campuses, although the same issues are being raised by black students almost everywhere.

The trend at the majority of schools now is to go most of the way in granting black student demands quickly, if possible. While the demands usually are couched in non-negotiable terms, there is considerable negotiating reported from behind the scenes. In general, where blacks see progress, they have adopted a wait-and-see posture.

Pattern of Demands

The demands pretty much follow the same pattern:

—More courses emphasizing the black experience in America, preferably taught by black instructors and in a separate department.

—More black faculty, counselors and administrators throughout the university, but especially in such areas of special concern as admissions and financial aid offices.

—More recruiting of black students, particularly among the disadvantaged in the ghettos, under special admission policies.

—Special or separate social and living facilities for blacks.

—Administration of as many of these programs as possible by black students and advisors.

The whole issue is cloaked in the intense new feeling of black awareness, the search for racial pride and identity that have come to dominate the black movement.

More Immediate Reasons

There are also more immediate reasons behind black demands listed by university observers:

—Many black students are committed to return to the ghettos, which means they need skills tailored to black ghetto society.

—Black studies also may help to bridge an uncomfortable sense of separation many black students feel from their less fortunate brothers and sisters who don't go on to college.

—Some colleges and universities in the past year or two have reached among the truly disadvantaged to increase black enrollments, but haven't prepared to deal with their special handicaps.

As Ed Wynn, a Negro graduate student at Berkeley, put it, "There are people here who simply don't belong here. When they ask for a separate department it's another way of saying they can't make it without special help."

Autonomous Departments

Nearly all universities want to avoid being pushed into setting up completely autonomous black studies departments such as Hare planned at S.F. State.

With the middle class cream long since skimmed from the top of black society, most universities are quietly "adjusting" their admission standards to bring in more Negro students.

But almost every new black enrollee today requires financial assistance and extra effort and preparation to keep him in school. And that adds up to a heavy financial burden, especially for schools that are already flirting with a taxpayer revolt.

The University of Washington, for example, is in the first full year of its Special Education Programs to recruit disadvantaged minority students, at a cost of about $370,000 including "absolutely minimal" financial assistance.

Colorado expects to need $500,000 this year to launch its new recruiting effort, involving 75 students.

Faculty, Student Donations

In some cases, faculty and students are major contributors.

At the University of Washington, for example, a black student request last year for recruiting funds brought a donation of $76,000 from faculty and graduate students.

At the University of Colorado, the student body recently voted by referendum to tack an extra $5 per student on annual activity fees to provide about $500,000 over four years for recruiting and assisting minority students.

Ideal Plainswoman, Plainsman Chosen

A newly-engaged Nebraska Wesleyan couple, Judy Trimble of Gothenburg and Keith Maurer, Madison, were named Ideal Plainswoman and Ideal Plainsman.

Their selection as the most representative seniors in the graduating class was announced Friday morning at the annual senior recognition convocation.

The pair, known on campus as academic achievers and campus leaders, became engaged earlier this month. They were nominated for the Ideal honors by their respective social groups.

Judy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Trimble, was president of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and has been on the Dean's List of Academic Achievement. The education major also served as treasurer of Cardinal Key, women's national service honorary, and was active on Panhellenic Council, Student Senate, Pi Gamma Mu social science honorary, choir, student education association and Ionians, a Greek service honorary.

Miss Trimble

Maurer

Judy also was active in Kappa Delta Pi education honorary, YWCA, and last summer worked for the NWU admissions office.

Maurer was president of Theta Chi fraternity, W-Club, men's athletic association, and Blue Key, men's national service honorary.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Maurer and lettered in football and basketball. He served on the interfraternity council, and received the Mel Pixley Athletic Award, was named to the Dean's List and was a member of Omicron Delta Epsilon, business honorary.

Maurer, president of the senior class, presented the class gift to the college. The gift will be an appropriate memorial in memory of Janine Brown, a member of the class killed last year in an automobile accident.

The class roll was called by Marilyn Hutchinson, Humboldt, Ia., and the senior oration was given by Dennis Murphy, Lincoln.

Meet Star Carrier Jeff Wood

Jeff Wood's bank account may be temporarily depleted but it's unlikely that he'll worry about it while he is enjoying his new golf clubs in the spring sunshine.

JEFF WOOD

Bought Golf Clubs

Jeff can also point to the golf clubs as evidence of his conviction that having a paper route and earning one's own money has very tangible advantages.

Known for his excellent service to subscribers of The Lincoln Star in the Bishop Heights section of Lincoln, Jeff regards all of his customers as friends and has earned high praise from his supervisor.

A student at Irving Junior High School, Jeff is interested in current events and especially the Nixon administration's actions.

His favorite spare time activities include hunting and fishing, playing basketball and baseball and collecting miniature liquor bottles.

As to the future, Jeff would like to become a dentist.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wood, say that having a paper route has taught their son how to organize his time, budget his money and has given him a sense of responsibility and independence.

Bond Commission Bill Is Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Legislation to establish a highway bond commission struggled shakily over its first floor hurdle Friday, and the Unicameral reluctantly turned to consideration of a proposal to authorize a $30 million bond issue.

Sen. Terry Carpetner's effort to force a decision on the proposed authorization was sidetracked when lawmakers voted 26-10 to adjourn for the weekend.

The bond commission bill, LB948, subjected to three days of questioning and debate, was finally advanced from general file on a weak 25-4 count.

33 Votes Needed

The bill will need 33 votes on final reading if it is to take effect immediately, and permit issuance of bonds during this construction year.

LB1305, the companion measure which remained trapped on general file when senators adjourned, would authorize issuance of $20 million in bonds this year and an additional $10 million issue in 1971.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine urged lawmakers to amend the proposal to give second priority on use of the funds to hard surfacing of roads now on the state highway system.

Frst Priority

LB1305 directs that first priority be given to completion of the Interstate Highway system.

Adamson said he wants to be sure that any remaining funds not be directed to possible additional Interstate mileage, or to initiation of the proposed state freeway system.

"Our roads have been neglected far too long," Adamson insisted.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton won assent to an amendment which provides that the Interstate priority be confined to mileage already on the Interstate system.

Carpenter, sponsor of LB1305, told his colleagues that the entire $30 million bond issue will be needed to complete authorized Interstate mileage.

Omaha Area

First priority will be accorded to completion of the highway in the Omaha area and in western Nebraska, and to construction of the new Interstate bridge at Sioux City.

Without bonds, Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly noted, either Omaha mileage or the western Interstate strip would have to wait for funds while the other was being completed.

By using bond funds — 90% of which would be reimbursed over the next three years by the federal government — Interstate construction can be completed at least two years ahead of time, lawmakers were assured.

Voting against LB948 were Sens. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha, T. C. Kennedy of Newman Grove, Herb Nore of Genoa, and William Wylie of Elgin.

With the commission bill stumbling on its way, the Legislature turned to a somewhat traumatic discussion of the proposed bond issue itself.

Deep Reluctance

Hanging over the debate is a deep reluctance to break the century-old barrier against state indebtedness.

Voters last November authorized the Legislature to take the state into debt for the first time, on a limited basis. Indebtedness can be incurred only in the form of special obligation highway bonds, secured only by highway user revenue.

Kennedy said the result will be "not to build more roads, but to spend more money."

Both Kennedy and Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell argued that bonding would be inflationary — as did Sen Willard Waldo of De Witt the day before.

But the inflationary costs of waiting to undertake the construction at a later date will be greater than the interest costs incurred now, Warner contended.

The painful debate presumably will resume Monday.

Welfare Dept. Transfer To Air Park OK'd

The Legislature Friday authorized the State Department of Public Welfare to move its quarters to Lincoln Air Park West.

Approval came on a 27-7 vote, after Sen. George Syas of Omaha challenged legislative authority to either approve or disapprove the move.

Syas has an attorney general's opinion which suggests that the Legislature has no constitutional authority regarding such action.

The department now occupies space on the third and fourth floor of the Statehouse, and rented quarters in the Lincoln Building and the Executive Building.

Rental of the single building at Air Park West "would result in an annual savings of approximately $1,000 over what we are presently paying for the space now being rented," Acting Public Welfare Director Robert McManus told lawmakers in a letter to Speaker Jerome Warner.

Estimated first-year costs would be $24,000, including the cost of moving. Second-year costs are estimated at $19,500.

Warner said the agency would be housed in the new state office building once that structure is built.

Famous University reports —

"Use of Miracle-Gro increased the general vigor of rose plants considerably, with many more stronger, longer shoots and branches, much more and greener foliage, as well as double to triple the number of more beautiful blooms."

University test proves 30-second "instant action" in 5-ft. rose bush

Famous University scientists added tiny quantities of radioactive tracers to test solution of Miracle-Gro. They then applied this solution to the roots of a 5-foot rose bush. Within 30 seconds, Geiger counter registered definite activity at top of bush —proof of how fast Miracle-Gro works.

Building Projects Safety Bill Passed

By Associated Press

Nebraska's Legislature Friday broadened the authority of the state labor commissioner to enforce safety standards in building construction.

Passed 42-0 on final reading was a bill, LB726, which authorizes the state labor commissioner to adopt a Nebraska Safety Code for building construction and provides enforcement powers and prosecution procedures.

The bill was sponsored by Sens. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha and Orval Keyes of Papillion.

LB726 authorizes the labor commissioner to halt work at any project where the safety code is being violated. Noncompliance can bring a fine of $50 to $1,000 for each offense.

The bill permits prosecutions to be brought in the name of the state of Nebraska before any justice of the peace, police magistrate or other magistrate or court having jurisdiction, and makes it the duty of all county attorneys "to prosecute all persons charged with offenses against the health and safety laws and regulations of this state."

Another safety bill passed Friday, LB754, sets out safety precautions to be taken when work is done in the vicinity of high voltage lines. Sen. Don Elrod of Grand Island sponsored this bill, LB754, and it was passed 40-1.

Bills passed in the Legislature Friday (E-emergency clause):

LB152 (Clark) — Authorizing municipalities to regulate community antenna television service. (E) 40-0.

LB403 (Proud) — Broadening the purposes for which sanitary and improvement districts are operated to include sidewalks and gas street lights. 43-0.

LB654 (Marvel) — Revising public welfare law to broaden powers and duties of state of Nebraska in administering provisions of the Social Security Act. 42-0.

LB726 (Skarda, Keyes) — Authorizing state labor commissioner to adopt a Nebraska Safety Code for building construction, and providing enforcement powers and prosecution procedures. 42-0.

LB754 (Elrod) — Requiring safety precautions for work in the vicinity of high voltage lines. 40-1.

LB931 (Burbach) — Increasing the allowed speed limits for school buses from 55 to 60 miles per hour on hard surfaced roads during the day, and from 50 to 55 mph at night, and allowing 65 mph travel on freeways. 37-3.

LB988 (Harsh) — Giving the state a lien for unpaid rent on school lands and providing for forfeiting rights to improvements when a school land lease is forfeited for failure to pay rent. (E) 40-0.

LB209 (Elrod) — Increasing by $7.50 per month the additional income which may be disregarded in determining amount of welfare benefits to aged, blind or disabled; by $5 per month, in the case of aid to dependent children. 28-9.

State Liquor Operation Rejected After Hearing

A bill that would have put the State of Nebraska into the wholesale liquor business was killed by the Legislature's Miscellaneous Subjects Committee after public hearing Friday.

Sen. James J. Waldron of Callaway said his LB500 was principally intended as a revenue-producing measure, but would require considerable revision to make it workable.

"You can kill it if you want to," Waldron told the committee. "I don't have time to re-work it."

It was opposed by the Nebraska Liquor Wholesalers Association, which noted only seven states have state-operated wholesale outlets.

The committee held for study a bill that would require the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District to enclose a two-block canal across the Kearney State College campus.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, chief sponsor, said that LB614 had prompted preliminary negotiations between the district and college, and expressed hope that a cooperative plan could be worked out without the legislation.

Platte Valley said complete enclosure would cost $200,000, but suggested an alternative $45,000 plan. The committee was told the City of Kearney had pledged $10,000 to the project.

Opponents, largely irrigations districts, charged the bill was unconstitutional, but Adamson noted that both the Platte Valley district and the college are "creatures of the Legislature," and subject to its directions.

The committee sent to the floor of the Legislature LB827, a measure which would allow Nebraskans to cancel any purchases they made or contracts they signed with a door to door salesman within three days of the purchase.

LB1288, requiring a special gallonage imprinting meter on tank wagons delivering motor and special fuels, was killed in other action.

Anti-Protest Plan Backed In Committee

The Unicameral's Government and Military Affairs Committee agreed Friday to introduce into the legislature a bill making it illegal to disrupt a campus or seize a campus building.

The bill, which committee members said is a copy of the bill now before Congress, would make it a crime to interfere in any way with the administration of a college or the operation of classes and to occupy a college building.

It provides for a penalty of up to six months in jail and a $500 fine for violation. If a person is injured during the course of a disturbance, the penalty for those involved would be raised to up to $1,000 fine and five years in jail. If someone were killed, those involved would be subject to a jail sentence of up to 10 years.

The committee will hold a public hearing on the bill May 5.

Two Bills Killed

Six bills were sent to the floor of the legislature by the committee and two others were killed at the request of their sponsors. The committee held three other bills for further work.

Among the bills held was LB1352, to make the Governor's Crime Commission a permanent part of government. The commission was formed by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann last year in order to take advantage of federal funds which were being offered to the state in the crime control area.

The commission, as set up in the bill, would be composed of 17 persons appointed by the governor. The governor also would appoint the commission director, a position now held by Walt Weaver of Lincoln.

There was no opposition to the bill, or to any of the other bills the committee heard testimony on.

A bill sent to the floor would require all public buildings in Nebraska to fly the American flat at night with a spotlight on the flag until the end of the Vietnam war.

Legislative Bills Introduced

By Associated Press

Bill introduced in the Legislature Friday:

LB1379 (for the governor, by Swanson) —Providing procedure for setting aside adjudication of delinquency of minors.

Revision Board Amendment Sets 12-Member Limit

The Legislature Friday amended legislation proposing establishment of a constitutional revision commission to limit the commission's membership to 12.

Under the amended bill, LB244, six persons will be named by the Legislature. Three of them would be state senators.

Three members would be named by the governor, and three would be appointed by the State Supreme Court.

Removed from the bill, without dissent, was the provision permitting the 12 members to name up to six additional persons to serve with them.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, sponsor of the bill, accepted the proposed change, offered by Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr., of Omaha.

All Mothers Invited To View Legislature

By Associated Press

Nebraska's Legislature voted 28-2 Friday to invite mothers throughout Nebraska to march or ride to the lawmaking chamber to find out what is going on in state government, especially with relation to schools.

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter made the tongue-in-cheek motion and the only senators to vote against it were Sens. Elvin Adamson of Valentine and Ramey Whitney of Chappell.

Carpenter said the motion was prompted by a published news story quoting "my old and good friend," S. H. (Zeke) Brauer Jr., as saying a mothers' march on the Statehouse is a possibility.

Brauer, secretary of the Nebraska School Improvement Association (USIA), said pressure for a mothers' march is developing as a protest against Unicameral moves to enact legislation affecting school reorganization and surbing rights of self-determination by school districts.

Carpenter said a mothers' march is a "good idea" but it "ought not to be confined" to any particular group of mothers.

Study Of Game Office Site Asked

Sen. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox introduced in the Legislature Friday his promised resolution calling for an interim study of the question of a headquarters location for the State Game Commission.

The Legislature has been hassling over a bill which, as written, would transfer the commission headquarters from Lincoln to Ord. Other locations also have been proposed.

The resolution, No. 41, proposed creation of a committee "to study all aspects of new headquarters for the Game and Parks Commission, including locations and methods of financing."

Mental Health Group Elects Omahan Chief

Dr. Niels C. Wodder of Omaha, assistant superintendent of Omaha Westside High School, was elected president of the Nebraska Mental Health Association during opening convention sessions Friday.

At separate sessions, Lancaster County Mental Health Association members elected G. Edwin Pearce of Lincoln president of the group.

Activities Friday included a panel presentation; business sessions; a luncheon with speaker Phil Crane of Chicago, director of National Leadership Training in Recovery, Inc., and a welcoming tea at the Governor's Mansion for Miss Fran Allison, a member of the National Mental Health Association's Celebrity Council.

Celebrity Attends

Miss Allison, television and radio personality, attended the convention and visited children's services at the Lincoln State Hospital.

Guest speaker at a Friday night dinner was Ronald R. McCord of New York City, staff associate of the National Mental Health Association's Department of Public Information.

Saturday the ad hoc committee will give a report and a round table discussion will follow. The convention will adjourn after morning sessions.

Other state officers elected Friday were John Baylor of Lincoln, vice pesident; Larry G. Heeren of Omaha, secretary, and the Rev. Harold Smith of Lincoln, treasurer.

Nominating committee members are Richard Thailing of Omaha, G. Edwin Pearce and Dr. George Harris of Cambridge.

Directors Elected

Re-elected to three-year terms on the board of directors were Mrs. Edith Fenstermacher of Nebraska City, the Rev. Edward Groves of Omaha and Mrs. CleoBells Gummere of Benkelman. Directors elected for a first term were Father Max G. DeWitt of Crete, Father E. William Pound of Columbus, Mrs. John M. Brower of Fullerton, Mrs. Kenneth Mizell of McCook, the Rev. C. Erlandson of Concord and Father Vincent Mainelli of Omaha.

Other Lancaster County Mental Health Association officers are Mrs. Virginia Roberts, first vice president (education); Bernard Wishnow, second vice president (legislation and public policy); Budd Duvall, third vice president (public relations); Elsie FitzGerald, corresponding secretary; Virginia Ray, recording secretary; Art Reed, treasurer; Merlyn Minderman, finance committee, and Mike Higgins, field study.

Elected to the professional advisory committee were Dr. Carmen Grant (clinical psychology); Dr. Robert K. Jones (psychiatry); Mrs. Harry Hegstrom (teacher); Dr. Chuck Erickson (pediatrics); Dave Anderson (social work), and Jack O'Shea (Department of Public Institutions).

Board members elected were Duvall, Mrs. Roberts, Wishnow, Lt. Gail Gade and Dr. Erickson. Elsie FitzGerald and Mrs. Alice Youngscap were re-elected.

Education Board May Meet Soon On Miller Status

State Board of Education President Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt of Norfolk said Friday there is a chance the board might hold a special meeting next week to consider the dismissal of State Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller.

Dr. Burkhardt said he had received an opinion from the attorney general on procedures involved in calling a special meeting, but said he would have to confer with an attorney since the opinion was full of legal terminology.

The place of the meeting would be the state Department of Education office in the Capitol here, he said.

Jail Escapee Given 2-Year Prison Term

A Lancaster County Jail inmate who sawed his way out of his cell where he was confined on another charge Oct. 28, 1968, was sentenced to two years in the Nebraska Penal Complex Friday by Judge Bartlett Boyles.

Lloyd Enfield, alias Donald Cole, 36, of Portland, Ore., had pleaded nolo contendere April 3 to both charges of escape and failure to return a leased vehicle.

Judge Boyles sentenced Enfield to two years on the escape charge and one year on the second charge, the terms to run concurrently.

Enfield was arrested Nov. 3 in Roseburg, Ore. by Oregon State police who stopped him because of automobile irregularities and discovered he was sought by authorities.

Legislator Hits Locked Toilets

Sacramento, Calif. (UPI) — A petite lady lawmaker smashed a potty to bits with a sledgehammer on the capitol steps Friday in her melodramatic campaign to strip the locks from pay toilets in California.

To the strains of "The Best Things in Life Are Free," played by a Dixieland band, Assemblywoman March Fong aimed the first blow at the potty lock and brought the sledgehammer down with a stout swing.

She missed and nearly lost her balance, but received a round of applause from an estimated 200 onlookers and supporters.

She hefted the sledgehammer again and took two more bold swings. The second did the job and the potty's big symbolic wood padlock splintered. The crowd cheered.

Insurance License Bill Revival Fails

The Legislature refused Friday to revive a bill which the Banking Committee had killed, designed to strengthen the insurance agents licensing law and to stiffen some of the licensing requirements.

Sen. William F. Swanson's motion to override the committee and place his LB595 on general file received 15 favoring votes, 17 in opposition.

The rebuff came after members of the Banking Committee informed the Legislature that they were working with the State Insurance Department on a possible alternative bill which the committee has agreed to sponsor if agreement on its form can be reached.

every hour

. . . should be everybody's theme song. Time is a graph or chart which measures what we are. We have no time to kill. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," Ecles. 9:10. Constantly strive to be a better father, mother, husband, wife, son, daughter . . . a better church member. There is always a friend or neighbor less fortunate than you. "He that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin. James 4:17. If you have had a kindness shown, pass it on; 'twas not meant for you alone . . . pass it on.

ABOVE ALL, "every hour" is God's gift. Wasting time is wasting God's Bounty. Keep on killing time and time will kill you. "Every man must give an account of himself to God," Romans 14:12. Spend your spare time at home, at Church or on errands of mercy . . . "I Need Thee Every Hour."

Abby: shut yours

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm the kind of wife who tells her husband everything. And I am married to the kind of son who tells his mother everything. Well, his mother has a big mouth, and she's the kind of woman who tells everybody everything, so now everyone in town knows all my personal business. How do you suggest I go about getting Friend Husband to keep his trap shut? Or maybe I should tell his mother to keep HERS shut.

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: I have a better idea. Why not simplify things and keep YOURS shut?

DEAR ABBY: I have it on very good authority that up until about 50 years ago it was the custom for Eskimo women to leave their villages just before their babies were due, go off by themselves, and give birth all alone.

This seems to be a very barbaric practice, and I can't figure out the reason for it. I know it is true because someone who has lived above the Arctic circle for more than 50 years told me this himself.

What are the facts?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: The facts (as obtained for me from Mr. Robert B. Atwood, my esteemed friend and editor and publisher of the Anchorage Daily Times are:

"No one has any proof that such a custom ever existed.

Father John P. Fox, a Catholic priest, who has spent 50 years in the Arctic Circle stated:

"Once, 43 years ago I knew a young Eskimo woman who left her village to have her child alone. The reason. She was 19, unmarried and didn't want anyone to know of her disgrace. She had been running around with a native trader who had THREE wives. The baby apparently died at birth or shortly after, and was hidden somewhere out on the tundra by the young mother. That is the only such case I have ever heard of.

"That so-called 'custom' is in a class with the 'wife-swapping' stories one hears about the Eskimos, and the practice of 'loaning' one's wife to a guest. An occasional drunken native may have used his friend's wife, but that would hardly make it a custom."

Brunch

The Lincoln Alumnae of Delta Gamma will honor the graduating seniors at a 10:30 o'clock brunch, Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Walt F. Weaver, 3818 Sheridan.

Chairman for the brunch is Mrs. Howard Dinsdale, who will be assisted by Miss Eleanor Anderson, Mrs. James DeMars, Mrs. Eugene Merchant, Mrs. James Pollard and Mrs. Norman Watkins.

NU Scholarship Honors Dean Snyder

Miss Helen Snyder, associate dean of student affairs at the University of Nebraska, was honored Friday noon at a luncheon at which representatives of campus women's organizations presented a $1,100 scholarship to the university in her name.

The Dean Snyder Scholarship, established with funds contributed by members of Mortar Board honor society, Associated Women Students, Panhellenic, YWCA, Towne Club, Tassels, and Alpha Lambda Delta honorary, was presented by Miss Nesha Neumeister of Nebraska City, president of Mortar Board, for which Miss Snyder serves as national president.

From the left are Miss Barbara Robbie, Omaha, Panhellenic president; Miss Mary Lund, Columbus, president of Tassels; Miss Pam Dalling, Norfolk, and Miss Judy Busboom, Crete, Mortar Board members; Miss Snyder; Miss Jane Sitorius, Gothenburg, AWS president; Miss Helen Larsen, Wahoo, Mortar Board; and Miss Barbara Ramsey, YWCA president.

Opening lead—two of clubs.

Let's assume you're East and partner leads a club. South takes your king with the ace and returns the three of spades on which West plays the four, dummy the jack, and you the deuce.

Declarer now leads a heart to the queen, West following low, and plays the six of spades, partner following with the seven and dummy the queen. Do you win the trick or not?

Of course, you've had this situation many times before. Dummy has a long suit with no side entry and you are faced with the question of when to take the ace.

You would surely take the second spade if you knew declarer had two spades to start with, but you would not take it if you knew declarer had three spades. In the latter case, you would duck in order to limit declarer to two spade tricks, whereas if you took the ace, he would make four spade tricks.

Some players look upon such problems as pure guesses and hope they guess right most of the time. But a first-rate defensive pair does not guess in this situation and comes up with the right answer all the time.

The defender who does not have the ace should signal conventionally to the other defender how many cards he has in the crucial suit, and in that way tell his partner indirectly how many declarer has.

The method of doing this is simplicity itself. If West has two spades, he plays them in high-low order, thus showing an even number. If he has three spades, he plays them in ascending order, thus showing an odd number. Therefore, when West plays the four followed by the seven, he marks himself with another spade.

East consequently takes the ace on the second round, returns the nine of clubs, and South must eventually go down one. But if East ducks the queen, South takes another heart finesse and winds up making four notrump.

Questions, Answers, Exercise

Here is a get-ready-for-the-swimming season exercise. I have given you this before. However, it is such a wonderful one for reducing the upper or lower hipline (depending on how you do it) that I want to include it in the short Spring Makeover I am bringing you.

Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms extending out from your shoulders, palms toward the floor. For the upper hipline bend both knees up toward your tummy, as far as you can. Keep them in this position as you roll from side to side.

For reducing the lower hipline take the same starting position. Bend both knees and place your feet on the floor, fairly close to your hips. Now raise your heels off of the floor. Only your toes touch as you roll from side to side. This exercise also gives your waist a nice twist toward the right measurement.

Q. What do you think about eye shadow for older women?

A. I think that any of the darker shades are aging. Forget the greys and browns and all dark shades. Use the lighter ones. Blues, violets and greens are usually flattering. Whether or not to use shadow also depends on the condition of the lids. If there is a deep crease or fold in the skin, the shadow will settle in it. Many women prefer just an eyeliner and false lashes or mascara. However, shadow can be flattering if the right shade is used.

Q. I have such dark circles under my eyes that I look older than I am. Otherwise, I am very youthful in appearance for my 35 years. Is there anything I can do tbout these? Other members of my family do not have them.

A. There are several things you can do. In the first place investigate your health habits. Do you shortchange yourself on sleep? This alone can cause the dark cricles. Do you eat properly, giving your body all of the essentials it needs? Do you get any regular outdoor exercise? Perhaps you should have a physical examination to be sure that no disorder exists.

Then there are excellent products which will conceal the circles. These come in stick or cream form. Use one of these under your regular base or foundation, or, you can use a foundation in this area which is lighter in color than your usual one. This also should be used underneath the usual one. However, I think the stick or cream is more effective.

Q. Is there more than one kind of eye shadow? If so what are they?

A. There are several types, such as cream, liquid and powder. Many women find that the powdered shadows are softer and more flattering from middle age on.

Q. I get little pimples whenever I tweeze hairs on my face. Why is this and how can I avoid it?

A. Do not jerk the hairs out but remove them with a steady continuous pull. Also, always pull in the direction in which the hair is growing, not against it. It is important that you use a disinfectant after removing the hairs because of the trouble you are having. Plain rubbing alochol will do.

Science Academy Elects Dr. Laursen

Dr. Paul H. Laursen, professor of chemistry at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Friday was chosen president-elect of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences during the 79th annual meeting here.

Some 200 papers on subjects ranging from bird-watching to an incidence of tool-using behavior on the part of orangutans to peridontal disease in albino rats will be given by Nebraska scientists during the two-day meeting.

More than 400 persons are expected to attend the sessions of the academy and affiliated societies for geographical education and mathematics.

Laursen, chairman of the NWU chemistry department, will assume the presidency at next year's meeting.

Dietz Installed

Dr. Nicholas Dietz Jr., professor at the Creighton University School of Medicine in Omaha, was installed as president Friday. He succeeded Dr. Robert B. Nelson, assistant professor of geology at the University of Nebraska.

Other academy officers elected were Dr. C. Bertrand Schultz, director of the NU museum, executive secretary; Dr. Henry Cox, director of NU examinations service, corresponding secretary; Dr. Howard P. Doole, NU associate professor of mathematics, treasurer; and Nelson, councilor.

Honored at the annual banquet Friday night were seven Nebraska high school seniors designated winners and honorable mention participants of the Science Talent Search conducted by Science Clubs of America.

Winners of the Westinghouse Science scholarships were Joel Bohling of Auburn with a project of estimating a star's distance by spectroanalysis, and David Kaplan of Omaha, with a project on "functions defined by unusual limits."

Honorable mention went to five Omaha youths — Robert Brody, Gregory Grunberg, Evelyn McDonald, Judith Papish and Thad Shaffer.

Papers Presented

Papers will be given in the areas of anthropology, biological and medical sciences, chemistry and physics, dental research, earth science, engineering, history and philosophy of science, science teaching, geographic education, mathematics, psychology and ornithology.

Papers included such technical subjects as "Photochemistry of 5,8-dihydro-5,8-bridged-1, 4-naphthalenediols" by Claire Olander, Ronald Warnet and Desmond Wheeler of the NU chemistry department, and "A study of substrate specificity for dopa decarboxylase of the 2-hydroxymethylphenylalanines and 2, 4-dihydroxymethylphenylalanines" by Roger Bower and J. P. Lambooy of the NU biochemistry departments.

Not quite as technical were such papers as "Mating of the common loon" by NU professor D. Jean Tate and "Institutions and the supernatural among the supernatural among the P. Blankenship of the NU anthropology department.

Congratulations From A Famous Man

Dr. Tuzo Wilson, famed scientist who addressed the Nebraska Academy of Sciences Friday night, congratulates two of the winners introduced at the meeting: Marilyn Johnson of Omaha Central, winner of the Nebraska mathematics test, and David Kaplan, also from Omaha Central, one of the two winners in the Nebraska science talent search. (Star Photo.)

Wilson: Earth's Continents Once Were Connected

Did you know that all the continents were once combined into one with no sea separating them?

Dr. J. Tuzo Wilson, during his address to the 79th annual meeting of the Nebraska Academy of Science Friday evening, proposed several theories that have been accepted by geologists and scientists supporting the question of continental drift.

Wilson, a graduate of Princeton and Cambridge, has studied the subject of continental drift for many years.

Approximately 150 million years ago, Wilson said, the various continents of the world were attached to form a single land formation.

"This theory is not relatively new," Wilson said, "but only recently, evidence has been found to support theories on continental drift."

Movement Took Place

The movement separating them was brought about by various forms of movement within the earth itself.

Earthquakes, volcanoes and the melting of the ice during the glacier age (which caused the land to "spring up") helped to separate the continents into the ones we recognize today.

Another form of movement, Wilson said, was along the ocean floors themselves.

This was apparently caused by the earth, like the sun, reversing its magnetic polarity "every few hundred thousand years."

Supporting evidence that the north pole switches to the south has been found by drilling holes through the crust of the eath and examining the magnetic field of sections.

"Movement along ocean ridges has also caused internal earth movement," Wilson said.

Ridge Found

During the past ten years, scientists have discovered a ridge that circles the globe beneath the ocean surface, he said.

This, Wilson claimed, is the largest and highest mountain chain in the world.

Slight earthquakes along this chain occur constantly, he said, and help to move the continents further apart.

Theories on continental drift first arose when scientists couldn't offer a plausible theory to explain the similarity between plant life on all continents.

"The seeds couldn't very well have crossed the ocean themselves and man obviously couldn't have transplanted them," Wilson said.

"Therefore, the scientist was at a loss to explain their reason for being there."

People Refused

After the theory of continental drift was first proposed, many people refused to subscribe to the theory because of the difference between the continental shelf and coast line.

"Scientists said that the continents could not have been joined by their shore line but by the continental shelves. Until only recently, was enough known about the various continental shelves to place the continents in a jigsaw puzzle to form one."

Wilson said he thought the building of mountains along ocean basins was a possible way for the continents to drift apart.

"The Atlantic Ocean is growing larger by the tension of the ocean basin stretching and the Pacific Ocean smaller by compression," he said.

"This is moving the continents apart on the Atlantic side and bringing them closer together on the Pacific side."

"However," he grinned, "I wouldn't worry about sudden collisions with continents. It takes several thousands of years to move a continent even one inch."

Construction Strike Could Last Into June

A work-stopping strike on about 25 construction projects in Lincoln may last until June 1, said the president of the Building Construction Employers Association Friday.

Work halted completely Wednesday after the Operating Engineers Local 571 of Omaha posted pickets on construction sites throughout the city.

The engineers were among the dozen craft unions whose contracts expired April 1. Four of the unions have reached agreements with contractors.

Miller said no new negotiation meetings have been scheduled since the pickets were posted.

"The carpenters have not contacted us and they and other unions are obviously not interested in settling the dispute," he charged.

Miller reported that he was somewhat concerned with tradesmen's health and welfare funds since no money would be added during April and that workers would lose their eligibility for such benefit if the strike continues.

Democrats Plan Seminar; Burbach To Give Address

Nebraska Democrats said Friday their Jefferson-Jackson Day activities on May 10 will include a morning legislative seminar keynoted by state Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton.

The seminar also will be attended by other lawmakers who will assist in committee discussions of legislation passed by the legislature or pending in it, the announcement said.

It said the state central committee will hold an afternoon meeting in Lincoln that day also.

The Democrats announced previously that U.S Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., will be the featured speaker at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner the evening of May 10.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Orville Kemling Challenging Lee For Fonner Training Honors

. . . AURORA-BASED STABLE INCLUDES TWO PROMISING TWO-YEAR-OLDS IN ADDITION TO LEADING LADY BOLD ACCENT

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Grand Island — If Orville Kemling is wearing a look of satisfaction these days he has good reason to.

The veteran thoroughbred trainer is currently waging a fierce battle with R. E. Lee for leading trainer honors at Fonner Park.

And the amazing thing about it is that Kemling has saddled less than half as many horses as Lee, who was the top Fonner trainer a year ago.

Through Friday's races Lee had nine winners, 10 seconds and four thirds while having saddled more than 70 horses.

But Kemling, despite having sent just 33 to the post, boasts 11 winners, six seconds and five thirds.

That's a winning percentage of 33 and an in-the-money percentage of 67 — figures few trainers can match.

How has he done it?

"Just accidentally," said the modest Kemling. Accident and good horses that is.

Kemling's Fonner stable numbers 12 horses under the ownership of Orville's brother Paul and Orville says "As a group they're about the best bunch of horses we've had."

The pride of the stable, of course, is the highly regarded four-year-old filly Bold Accent, a superb sprinter.

But Bold Accent has some quick stablemates, including a pair of promising two-year-olds, Miss The Road and Red Trader.

Miss The Road, a filly, is unbeaten in three Fonner starts and boasts a four-furlong clocking of :46 2-5 just two-fifths of a second off the track record.

The :46 2-5, best time at Fonner this season, equals Bold Accent's top four-furlong clocking during her freshman campaign, but Kemling isn't ready to put Miss The Road in the same class as Bold Accent.

Red Trader, a gelding, has also done :46 2-5, but did so while finishing a head behind Vagabond Flyer.

"I doubt if they're quite the caliber of Bold Accent" Kemling says of his baby sprinters. "It's too early to tell, but a horse like Bold Accent doesn't come along very often."

Bold Accent has already earned nearly $74,000. She holds the Ak-Sar-Ben 4½ furlong record and has brought her owner purchasing offers of as high as $75,000.

A proven speed horse, the pride of the Kemling stable faces a new challenge today when she will be called upon to run her first route race.

Orville is expected to send Bold Accent into today's $6,000-added Fonner Mile where she must carry 118 pounds against a field headed by Marion H. Van Berg's Roman Judge, which has been assigned the top impost of 120 pounds.

Whether or not Bold Accent can go the route remains to be seen. She has not raced beyond 6½ furlongs before, but Kemling says, "We want to see if she can go the distance. She'll be worth more if she can."

There's another reason Orville is sending Bold Accent into the mile chase. "She's been rating (pacing herself) better this year," he says. "She just wouldn't rate earlier, but we hope she will now."

While today will be a big one for Bold Accent, her stablemates Miss The Road and Red Trader, have some big tests ahead of them, particularly at Ak-Sar-Ben where racing begins next Friday.

Miss The Road will carry the Kemling hopes in the Lassie Stake, the split divisions of which were won last year by stablemates Merry Kem and Jeanie Kem.

Red Trader will go in the Laddie Stake, won last year by Kem Jr., owned by Paul's son Mike.

Though Red Trader remains a maiden, Orville still has high hopes for him. "He's had a lot of problems," Orville says. "But if he ever learns to run straight he should be a pretty good one."

The Judge Heads Field At Fonner

Grand Island — A field of 10, headed by M. H. Van Berg's Roman Judge, will go to the post today in the $6,000-added Fonner Mile at Fonner Park here.

The Van Berg horse, with a jockey to be assigned this morning, will carry top weight of 120 pounds over the mile distance.

Bold Accent, who like Roman Judge is primarily a sprinter, will be asked to tote 118 pounds with Raymond Hancock in the saddle on the Paul Kemling horse.

Going at 117 pounds is Fist Fight while getting in at 114 are Royal Teenager, Lak-A-Brother and Candi's Prince.

Others in the mile race for three year olds and up are Frisked at 111, Gobbledegook at 110, Rose Again at 109 and Wayside Inn at 112.

HUSKERS SPLIT WITH MISSOURI

Furby's 3-Hitter Brings NU 4-0 Win In Opener

. . . TIGERS TAKE NIGHTCAP, 6-2

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

Missouri unleashed some "five-o'clock lightning" of its own on a windy, overcast day at the NU diamond Friday to roar past Nebraska, 6-2, after the Huskers' Al Furby fired a three-hit, 4-0 win in the opener of a Big Eight doubleheader split.

Furby used just 60 pitches, 46 of them strikes, to fashion his third straight Big Eight masterpiece. He has now given up only two runs in 22 innings of conference play this year.

Asked about the current season, in which he is hurling the best ball of his career, the Grand Island senior said, "I'm concentrating on control, which is the main idea of pitching, trying not to give up any walks instead of throwing too hard.

"I think what I'm doing is working the ball around the plate more and staying ahead of the hitters. If you do this, your defense is more confident behind you and not as shaky. With the wind like it was today, my breaking pitches wouldn't work as well so I threw quite a few fastballs, more than I usually do."

Furby, who broke into the starting rotation in the third series of his sophomore year, lowered his ERA this spring to 1.42 for all games and his three-year career mark to 2.45 for 135 innings, although his record is only 9-9 for that time because he hasn't had a lot of runs to work with.

Friday he got them, however, as the Huskers scored twice in their first time at bat on singles by Mike Voss, Tom Tidball, Ron Johnette and a sacrifice fly by Adrian Fiala.

NU added another pair in the fourth as Johnette walked, Fiala singled, Glen Gilmore moved them up with a sacrifice, Neal Garvey singled home one man and Dennis Jorgensen pushed a perfect bunt between the mound and first for the hit that scored Fiala.

Furby got the first pitch over against the first nine men, threw 15 strikes in his first 17 pitches and had his shutout saved by Jorgensen, who knocked down an infield hit after Furby walked two men in the third to keep the ball from going through and a run scoring.

Bruce Cramer, making his first start after not allowing an earned run in eight innings of relief this year, had a two-hit 2-1 lead going into the sixth inning of the nightcap before the Tigers powered two home runs to account for five runs.

Jorgenson bobbled a grounder after Cramer got the first two men in the sixth and Kurt Boenker put one over the fence in left-center to give Mizzou a 3-2 lead.

Del Blunk's single finished Cramer and Gene Stohs came on. Steve Patchin, who collected two hits off Furby in the opener, then got his second hit of the nightcap before Bill Boyd unloaded one over the fence in rightfield for a three-run blast that wrapped it up.

Missouri's first run of the day came on a homer by Neil Sloman in the third inning and Boyd blasted a ball out in the fifth that fell foul by inches at the last moment.

The Huskers had taken a 2-0 lead in the first on a single, two walks and Boenker's error, as Jim McCormack's looper bounced off his chest and into the outfield to score both runs.

The split leaves Mizzou at 6-5 in the conference and 9-8 overall, while the Huskers stand 2-5 and 7-8. Today's 1 p.m. finale matches pitchers Bob Sheetz of Missouri and NU's Paul Marek.

Goodrich Sets Drake Mark

. . . ORDUNA FINISHES THIRD IN 440 HURDLES

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) —Indiana University sophomore Mark Goodrich, with a near world record 9.2 clocking in the 100-yard dash, led a meet record-smashing opening of the 60th Drake Relays Friday.

Goodrich shattered the 13-year-old Drake mark of 9.4 in the century sprint trials, while Kansas State, Rice and Prairie View, Tex., set new meet records in three of the five relays events contested on Drake's new red tartan track.

Nebraska's Joe Orduna finished third in the 440-yard hurdles with a :53.2 clocking, while the Husker two-mile relay team was fifth in 7:29.9.

Nebraska qualifiers for finals today include the Husker mile relay team which won the fourth heat in 3:12.8 and the NU sprint medley relay team which qualified in 3:26.9.

Kansas' 440 relay quartet started the days crumbling of six Drake records with a 40.4 qualifying stint in the morning phase of the carnival which lurred 1,450 athletes from 115 universities and colleges.

Kansas State, anchored by brilliant Ken Swenson, pounded to a sparkling University two-mile baton record in 7:18.3.

Rice clipped five-tenths of a second off the University 880 relay record with a 1:23.2 victory as Kansas, seeking a slam of the event in the Texas-Kansas-Drake circuit, finished second.

Prairie View's new mark came in the college two-mile relay with a 7:27.1 triumph.

Olympic champion Dick Fosbury in a special high jump event leaped 7 feet to thrill the sun-basking crowd of 12,500 with his unique backward dive style.

The two-day meet concludes Saturday with a 21-event program and with Jim Ryun-paced Kansas still seeking its first relay title. Ryun anchored second-place Kansas with a poor 4:11.0 mile in the four-mile relay won by Texas El Paso.

Southern University of Baton Rouge won the day's fifth baton event, the College 880, in the modest time of 1:24.7.

Van Nelson of St. Cloud, Minn., State failed in a try for an unprecedented fourth straight Drake triumph finishing fourth in the three-mile run. The winner was Jack Bachelor, former Miami of Ohio star, in the slow time of 13:25.2, far behind the Drake record of 13:17.4 set by Nelson last year.

Other Friday individual winners were Joseph Simones of Missouri, awarded first in the 440 hurdles when Denny Cotner of Oklahoma was disqualified, and Stan Whitley of Kansas, Big Eight champion, in the long jump with 26-4.¾

Goodrich, Big Ten indoor 300 champion, clipped two-tenths of a second off the Drake record of 9.4 set 13 years ago by Duke's Dave Sime in 1956 and since equalled by three other sprinters.

The world mark is 9.1 shared by Bob Hayes, Jim Hines and former Nebraska star Charlie Greene.

Changes, Additions Combine For More Impressive Offense

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

PAUL TOPLIFF

Nebraska's offense, which had been unimpressive in a mid-week scrimmage, was more encouraging to head coach Bob Devaney Friday as the Husker gridders headed toward this afternoon's scrimmage session.

"We added a couple of new things which helped the offense a little," Devaney said after Friday's session. "We also made a few personnel changes and I think our offense looked the best it has this spring in the brief contact we had today (Friday)."

The personnel switches involved moving Paul Topliff from No. 2 right tackle to the top unit ahead of Don McGhee, center Rich Coppas to the No. 2 unit and fullback Bill Bomberger to the No. 2 unit, alternating with Bob Terrio.

"Our fullbacks looked a little better than they have," Devaney said. "Mike Green, Terrio and Bomberger all looked pretty good."

The Husker head coach also was pleased with the work of his top two sophomore quarterbacks, Van Brownson and Jerry Tagge.

"They've been doing pretty good jobs," he said. "They're two pretty good sophomore quarterbacks. They probably are the best pair of sophomores we've had."

The Husker staff is toying with the idea of making a center out of 203-pound, sophomore defensive end Bill Janssen if the current crop of ball snappers doesn't begin to make progress.

"We worked Janssen at center on punts today," Devaney pointed out. "He's been looking good at defensive end, but we may give him a try on offense."

Today's scrimmage session is slated to get under way at 2:30.

West, Baylor Power Second Laker Victory

Los Angeles (AP) — Jerry West scored 41 points and Elgin Baylor 32, including the last 12 for Los Angeles, leading the Lakers to a 118-112 victory over Boston Friday night and a 2-0 lead in their championship playoff of the National Basketball Association.

Four times the Celtics led by 10 points in the third period but at the end of the stanza the Lakers held an 88-85 advantage.

To that point, the lead had changed hands 10 times with seven ties.

Hectic action continued in the final quarter before the 17,559 at the Forum and with John Havlicek leading the way, Boston built a 108-104 advantage with three minutes to go.

Johnny Egan, who contributed 26 points to the Laker attack, drove in for a basket and then Baylor began his scoring surge that brought the victory.

The best four-of-seven series now moves to Boston for a nationally televised battle Sunday afternoon.

Player-Coach Bill Russell of Boston grabbed 21 rebounds and scored nine points. Chamberlain had 19 rebounds but only four points.

Havlicek and Sam Jones provided most of the Celtic scoring, the former with 43 and the latter with 21.

Yankees Whip Baltimore, 7-2

By Associated Press

Mel Stottlemyre, off to his best start in the major leagues, hurled his fifth consecutive victory against no defeats as the New York Yankees whipped Baltimore, 7-2, Friday night.

Home runs by Jimmie Hall and Joe Pepitone backed up Mel's clutch pitching. He left 10 Baltimore runners stranded.

California beat Kansas City 6-3, the Chicago White Sox edged Minnesota 6-5, Boston nipped Detroit 5-4, Washington crushed Cleveland 10-3, Philadelphia downed St. Louis 5-1, Pittsburgh routed Montreal 8-2 and the Chicago Cubs conquered the New York Mets 3-1 in other games.

With the bases loaded and everyone running with two out Jim Fregosi smacked a three-run single on a 3-2 pitch in the eighth inning to give California its victory over Kansas City.

Rookie Carlos May singled home the winning run in the ninth for the White Sox win over the Twins. Home runs by Billy Conigliaro, Mike Andrews and Rico Petrocelli helped the Red Sox down the Tigers.

Frank Howard drove in four runs, including a two-run homer, to pace the Senators over Cleveland. It was the Indians' eighth straight defeat. Philadelphia won its fourth in a row by tagging Bob Gibson, star St. Louis pitcher, for five straight hits good for four runs in the sixth inning.

Pitcher Steve Blass helped win his own game for the Pirates against the Expos with a two-out triple in the fifth to break a 2-2 tie. Ferguson Jenkins pitched a six-hitter and hit a homer as the Cubs snapped a four-game losing streak in downing the Mets.

In West Coast nighters, Cincinnati led San Diego 4-0, Los Angeles led Atlanta 3-1, San Francisco led Houston 3-2 and Oakland led Seattle 6-0 all after four innings.

Bill Singer checked Atlanta on four hits and became the first National League pitcher to win four games as the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed the Braves 3-1.

Jim Maloney's four-hit pitching and a three-run homer by catcher Johnny Bench led the Cincinnati Reds past the San Diego Padres 4-1.

Devlin, Greene Share Lead

. . . BYRON NELSON GOLF TOURNEY

Dallas (AP) — Slim Bert Greene, fighting growing pressure and the blustery, gusty Texas winds, sank a crucial, birdie putt on the last hole Friday and retained a share of the lead at the end of two rounds of the $100,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Greene, still looking for his first victory, finished with a 71 for 137 and a tie for the top spot with Australian Bruce Devlin and steady Frank Beard.

Devlin, a one-time Sydney plumber, had a brilliant 66 in the 30 mile per hour winds, four under par on the tough, 7,086-yard Preston Trail Golf Club layout. Beard had a 67.

Devlin had been in the clubhouse for hours and Beard for several minutes, when Greene came rolling home.

Closing out on No. 9 — he'd started on the backside — the 25-year-old blond needed a birdie to tie. He put his drive down the middle and rifled a six iron to within two feet of the pin, and calmly tapped it in.

His 66 had led the opening day.

"I tried not to think about leading," he said. "But I did think about it a lot. Yeah, I guess there was plenty of pressure out there."

Bunched behind the leaders, two strokes off the pace at 139, were lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand, who had a second round 70; Julius Boros, the 49-year-old PGA king who added a 72 to his opening 67; Australian Bruce Crampton, 70, and U.S. open champion Lee Trevino, also 70.

Cowboys Keep Big 8 Lead By Splitting With Oklahoma

By Associated Press

Oklahoma State was held to one hit by Oklahoma's Ronnie Hall but nipped the Sooners 1-0 to salvage a split of a doubleheader at Norman.

With a 9-2 conference record, the Cowboys retain a one-game lead over Oklahoma in the Big 8 race after losing the first game of the twinbill 3-1.

Three other doubleheaders were played in the Big 8 Friday and all resulted in splits. At Lincoln, Alan Furby pitched a three-hitter to give Nebraska a 4-0 win over Missouri in the first of two games.

Missouri hit three home runs in the nightcap to come from behind for a 6-2 victory. Now 6-5 in the league, the Tigers remain three games behind the conference leaders. Nebraska moves to 2-5 in the Big 8 and 7-8 overall.

Six home runs were hit as Iowa State and Kansas State divided a twinbill at Manhattan. In the opener, Iowa State scored four times in the seventh to produce a 12-9 win, but in the nightcap it was Kansas State which scored late to win, pushing across a run in the bottom of the seventh for a 5-4 victory.

Tommy Anderson's two-run homer in the last of the seventh gave Kansas a 2-1 squeaker over Colorado at Lawrence and a split of their doubleheader with the Buffs. The Jayhawks' Lenn Snelgrove drove in five runs in the opener but Kansas could not overcome an early 7-0 Colorado lead and dropped a 10-8 decision.

Lincoln High and Southeast had to go eight innings Friday at Sherman Field before the Links eked out a 2-1 victory behind the three-hit pitching of Jay Weyers.

Links' centerfielder Steve Shea, who drove home the first run with a squeeze bunt, scored the decisive run on an error. Southeast pitcher Alan Holbert threw a four-hitter but was hurt by two errors in the eighth.

Rain Interrupts Metro; Benson, Tech Leading

Omaha — Benson and Tech shared the lead in the Metro Conference Track Championships at Burke Friday as rain cut short the number of finals slated for the first day of action.

With only two winners determined, Benson's Scott Mitchell in the discus (150-9½) and Tech's Ken Spurlock in the long jump (22-7,) the meet will continue this morning at 9 a.m.

Barry Blue knocked in three runs with a single and a triple and pitched a five-hitter to spark Lincoln East to a 14-3 baseball win over Ralston at the East diamond Friday.

Jeff Patterson went 3-3, also driving in three runs for the Spartans which will put its 5-2 season record on the line against Lincoln Northeast this morning at Sherman Field.

Fishing Prize Adds Incentive

Anglers hooking a walleye at Pawnee Lake near Emerald may also be hauling in an expensive spinning reel or another item of fishing tackle, thanks to nine Lincoln-area businesses who are backing a Game Commission study at the lake.

The businesses have each donated one prize per month to be awarded to fishermen who land one of approximately 600 walleye tagged at the lake this spring by Game Commission technicians.

To be eligible for the prizes, fishermen must take or send the tag number, the date of the catch, length of the fish to the nearest quarter inch, and their name and address either directly to the Game Commission or to a licensed bait dealer in the Lincoln area.

A drawing will be held each month by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce to decide the nine winners.

Winners will be notified as to where to pick up their prizes. Participating businesses are Lawlor's Sporting Goods, Treasure City, Sears-Roebuck Company, J. C. Penney Company, Lincoln Sporting Goods, Kitchen's Bait and Tackle Shop, K-Mart, Surplus Center, all in Lincoln, and South Side Co-Op in Emerald.

Dodger Drysdale On Disabled List

Los Angeles (AP) — The once indestructible pitching ace of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Don Drysdale, goes on the 21-day disabled list Monday. Whether it will stretch longer—into retirement—no one, even Drysdale, can say.

A torn muscle deep in the right shoulder of his throwing arm is the problem. That arm has kept him in the $100,000 bracket the past several years.

Drysdale's place in the pitching rotation will be taken Saturday by young Alan Foster against the Cincinnati Reds at Dodger Stadium.

Christian Church Told Love Of God Shifted From 'Mystical' To 'Moral'

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Man's love of God has shifted from a "mystical emphasis" to a "moral emphasis," the Nebraska Fellowship of Christian Churches was told at its annual convention here Friday night.

DR. RONALD E. OSBORN

Dr. Ronald E. Osborn, dean of the Christian Theological Seminary in Indianapolis, Ind., declared that in the modern style of Christian life, love of God is "shown in the ways we deal with one another, not by what we do in our silence."

Osborn, tracing changes in the style of Christian life forced by urbanization, noted that people traditionally sought God to fill the loneliness of a solitary life.

'Moral Relationships'

"Now God's presence confronts us in our moral relationships with other people," he pointed out.

The practice and patterns of religion were derived from small-town, rural, personal relationships, according to Osborn. The substance of faith does not change. The way in which we will express faith is changing, he said.

Changes made in the expression of faith are not seen by Osborn as watering down faith but as adapting to requirements of modern society.

Another shift, he told the Christian church members, has been the expression of love of man. "In today's world, if we have regard for our fellow man, it comes out in corporate action or political action," rather than as personal contact on a one-to-one basis.

'Life On Earth'

The main appeal of Christianity, he also noted, has shifted from "seeking a reward in heaven to finding the meaning of life on earth."

The church's purpose, in the same manner, has shifted from getting people to join an institution to "enlisting people in the service of their fellow man."

Willard Townsend of Lincoln, president of the Nebraska Fellowship, discussed the 'challenge of change in the lives of Christians, citing such crisis issues as civil rights movements, law and order and war and peace.

Stock Mart Ends In Plus Column

New York (AP) — The stock market finished in the plus column again Friday as it collected another modest gain.

"It was a pretty good looking performance," an analyst said.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained 3.56 Thursday, rose another 2.80 to close at 924.00.

The trading pace also sped up with turnover for the session hitting 12.48 million shares, compared with 11.34 million shares Thursday. The volume was the highest since April 9 when 12.53 million shares changed hands. Of 1,552 issues traded, 757 advanced, and 532 declined. There were 49 new highs for the year and 101 new lows.

Brokers said investors apparently drew encouragement from the market's winning session Thursday.

They said investors also seemed encouraged by the market's ability "to largely resist the pressure of adverse news."

Blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange — an indication of institutional activity — totaled 85, compared with 56 Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1.4 at 332.2, with industrials up 2.1, rails up .9, and utilities up .3.

Steels were higher, with Bethlehem and U.S. Steel gaining more than a point each. Motors were mixed. Aircrafts were lower. Among electronics, Sperry Rand gained 1¼.

IBM gained 2¼, Xerox rose 4⅛ and Polaroid gained ½.

Oil issues had a lower tone.

Asamera Oil was the most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange, gaining 1⅝ to 36⅛.

Volume was 5.35 million shares, compared with 4.98 million Thursday.

Abernathy Arrested On S.C. Picket Line

Charleston, S.C. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy and 101 others were arrested in mass picketing demonstrations Friday afternoon and night at the South Carolina Medical College Hospital.

Non-professional workers have been on strike at the hospital for several weeks and Abernathy and 50 others were arrested in the afternoon after joining the picket line for the second time of the day. Fifty-one others were arrested Friday night.

Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership conference, and the others were charged with violating a state court injunction which forbids more than 10 pickets at a time in front of the hospital.

The group, most of them Negroes, was met by National Guardsmen with fixed bayonets and by state troopers and local officers when they arrived at the hospital. There was no violence.

Each Has Duty

"You have your duty to enforce the law," Abernathy told the arresting officer, Charleston Police Chief John Conroy. "I have my duty to disobey unjust laws."

The marchers, singing and shouting, were taken by bus to the county jail.

Those arrested Friday included some white men and women, including Leon Davis of New York, president of the National Wholesale and Retail Workers Union, parent organization of the Hospital Workers Union. More than half of those arrested were women.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said in a statement issued in Washington that "the AFLL-CIO will do all in its power to help win this most important struggle."

An auto salesman, he worked for several auto dealers in Lincoln including DeBrown Auto Sales Co.

Mr. Kurtz ran for county commissioner in the Second District in 1958, but was defeated in the primary election.

He was a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lancaster Lodge No. 54 AF&AM and the Traveling Men's Protective Association.

Survivors include his wife, Gladyce; son, John J. of Lincoln; daughters, Mrs. James (Nancy) Eitel of Lincoln and Miss Patricia Kurtz of Denver; sister, Mrs. James McPheeters of Houston, Tex., and a granddaughter.

Department's Head Admits Sticker 'Goof'

State Motor Vehicles Director Larry Johns said Friday his department "goofed" and ran out of inspection stickers for April.

Johns admitted the department has had trouble supplying some Omaha safety checking stations because of mixups in filling orders for the inspectors and in getting them from the state's supplier.

"We goofed," said Johns. "It's unfortunate it happened but we'll have to take the blame."

Several Omaha checking stations were reported to have quit the program because of difficulties with it, particularly in getting supplied with enough stickers to show whether cars had passed or filed inspections.

The motor vehicles chief said the primary cause of the shortage was the moratorium on the motor vehicles inspection program which the legislature invoked in February while it rewrote the inspection manual.

"It was impossible for us to know there was going to be a stoppage of the program," he said. "We were temporarily put out of business and didn't know how many stickers we would need or when the program would begin again or if it would begin again."

Elks Building Sold To Firm For $100,000

Hovland-Swanson Building Co. paid $100,000 for the old Elks Building at 13th & P, according to a deed filed with the Lancaster County Register of Deeds office.

At the time the purchase of the property was announced, James Swanson, president of Hovland-Swanson, said the store at 1230 O is too small and the company would begin using the additional building almost immediately for some of its operations.

He said Friday there was nothing more specific to announce at this time.

The old Elks building has been empty since late 1967 when the lodge moved to its new building at 15th and P.

Cuban Given 3-Year Term In Drug Case

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles has sentenced a 45-year-old Cuban national to three years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on a possession of marijuana charge.

Jose Hernandez Gonzalez of Miami, Fla., who had pleaded innocent to the felony charge earlier, changed his plea to guilty last week.

He was arrested Dec. 13, 1968, near the Interstate 80 interchange at Waverly after a Lincoln Police officer became suspicious and a check revealed the vehicle was on law enforcement stop lists.

According to police, 72 packets of marijuana weighing approximately 160 pounds was found in the car.

A case is still pending against Sergio Enrique Font, 26, also of Miami, who was with Gonzalez at the time of the arrest.

Tiemann Opposed To Sales Tax Hike

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Friday he is opposed to the Revenue Committee's bill to raise the state sales tax by one per cent with the added revenue going to the cities and counties.

At his weekly news conference, Tiemann said the revenue mesure as "presently drawn" would make it more difficult to increase the sales tax for state government purposes.

The committee bill, advanced to the floor earlier this week, is estimated to raise an extra $30 million with 60% going to the counties and 40% to the cities.

Revenue Committee Chairman Jules Burbach said the measure is intended as an alternative to another bill that would transfer financial responsibility for the state's three mental institutions and the Beatrice State Home to the state.

Tiemann said he would prefer having the state assume the tax burden for mental health care from the counties.

"This is a far more equitable approach if the intent is to provide relief to the counties," he said.

On educational matters, Tiemann said he is not disappointed the Education Committee proposed two compromise bills to the volatile mandatory school district reorganization bill, LB1342.

One measure would bar the organization of any new school districts in Nebraska after July 1, 1970, that do not have kindergarten through 12th grade classes.

The other would liberalize petition procedures for a landowner or renter of land with school-age children to transfer out of an elementary district into a kindergarten-12th grade district.

Supreme Court Upholds Validity Of Annexation Law

By Associated Press

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the constitutionality of an annexation law under which the city of Fremont annexed 19.94 acres of land on which Plumfield Nurseries, Inc. operates a wholesale nursery business.

The court held incidentally that although a nursery business involves horticultural and agricultural pursuits, it is nevertheless urban in character.

"It is a business in the ordinary sense and not an agricultural pursuit within the intent of the statute," said the opinion written by Judge Edward F. Carter.

The high court's judgment affirmed the Dodge County District Court in a suit brought by Plumfield Nurseries against Dodge County, the city of Fremont and its officers. Plumfield challenged the annexation and sought an injunction to prevent the county and city from levying or collecting city taxes on the annexed tract.

The 1967 annexation was based on a state law which allows first class cities to annex territory which is urban or suburban in character, if the territory is not "agricultural lands which are rural in character."

In other opinions Friday, the court:

—Affirmed the Butler County District Court and held that Mrs. Teckla Gilmore could not be required to pay a David City hospital bill for services to Mrs. Gilmore's mother.

—Upheld the drunk driving conviction in Cherry County District Court of Oliver R. Dubany.

—Concurred in the judgment of the Knox County District Court in approving a freeholders' petition of Joseph and Carol Pischel to transfer lands owned by them from the Verdigre school district to the Niobrara district.

—Affirmed the Douglas County District Court in finding against Swanson Petroleum Corp. in a suit to recover for merchandise sold to George Cumberland. Swanson Petroleum contended that insufficient fund checks tendered by Cumberland represented the obtaining of money by false pretenses and that as a result, the debt was not discharged when Cumberland went through bankruptcy. The court held Swanson Petroleum failed to sustain its burden of proving that the property was obtained by false pretenses.
